

Probing Air Transport Crash In New Mexico Fatal To Eight

WILL REGRETS BAD ACCIDENT TO BIG PLANE

(Special to The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 9.—The plane accident was terribly unfortunate and it no doubt will have a tendency to make some of the more skeptical ones to say that aviation is unsafe.

Their deaths will receive tremendous publicity all over the country, but today, when you read this, if you had the entire statistics of everybody all over the country who was killed Sunday by autos, well it will be lucky if its under twenty-five. Yet some of their deaths will never be published beyond their own county newspapers. Yet every one of them is just as dead as those on the plane.

No, Sir, travel by air is here to stay, and all the doubt in the world can't stop it, and accidents by plane will soon be taken the same as we take the news that a train at a grade crossing has killed a truckload of people, just a matter of fact.

Yours, W.L.L.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Workmen who are getting the forms ready for the concrete foundation of the new Gillilan block on North Jefferson street, and who have been forced to wear rubber boots because of the water seeping in through the gravel soil, needed their rubber foot-wear badly this morning. Over a foot of water had gathered over the week end, augmented no doubt by the rain of the past few days.

Although we have had general rains throughout the Western Pennsylvania district during the past two days, the ground has been so dry that it must have absorbed it as fast as it fell, as the Shenango river dropped a tenth of a foot over Sunday. According to Weather Observer B. F. Johnson, the rains hardly served to muddy the water in the stream.

Ten little boys were fishing in Neshannock creek, Saturday, under the Mill street bridge. One little boy proudly displayed to the passerby, a string of four little fish.

All danger of a drought in this section was removed by the soaking rains which fell over the week-end. While the rain was too late to save some of the crops, it did much good for the late corn, potatoes, tomatoes, and the like, in addition to replenishing the water supply in the wells of the farmers, some of which had gone dry due to the torrid weather and lack of rainfall.

Voters were urged to rouse from their apathy and get out to the polls to register in many of the churches of the city. The registration on the first two days has been extremely light.

Although the list of new polling places and their boundaries has been published in The News, there still seem to be quite a lot of people who are not familiar with the location of their new voting place, and several instances have been reported of people going to the old location and not finding anyone there or any signs directing them to the new location, have gone home with the determination not to register.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—After weeks of preliminary skirmishing the tariff was set under way today in the Senate, with a strong Democratic-Insurgent coalition fighting enactment of the administration's new $600,000,000 revenue bill.

The bill itself will be shoved out of the spotlight in the opening clash while the Democratic-Insurgent coalition seeks to secure publicity on the income tax returns of corporations, benefitting from the tariff. When (Continued On Page Two)

John Coolidge's Future Minister Chosen to Unite Him With Miss Trumbull Predicts Success on "Own Hook" for Ex- President's Son

By Central Press
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—"I've known John for about 10 years; I suppose it's only natural for him to ask me to perform the ceremony."

Thus, casually, the Rev. Kenneth B. Welles accepts the invitation to join John Coolidge, son of a former President of the United States, in matrimony with Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut. The wedding will take place at 4 p. m., on Monday, September 23, in the Plainville, Conn., Congregational church. The Trumbull home is at Plainville.

The Rev. Mr. Welles hasn't met the bride.

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—Three passengers on the western air express line from which the wreckage of the T. A. T. liner, the City of San Francisco, was first sighted on Mt. Taylor in New Mexico, told of their experience today.

Lester Luhnnow, Los Angeles; J. Harry Coleman, Elizabeth, N. J., and Rex B. Clark, Norco, Cal., arrived via train, still displaying nervousness as a result of the thrills they encountered after sighting the wreckage of the City of San Francisco.

Luhnnow was speaking to Kansas City to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Emma Volker Luhnnow, Coleman tonight is on his way to Chicago, and Clark is en route to Detroit.

"A nerve-wracking experience," Clark said as he stepped off the train. "We're all lucky to be alive."

"It was as though we were to be rewarded by supreme powers because we were on the plane that found the wrecked plane," said Coleman.

Clark said the giant bi-motored (Continued On Page Five)

New Jameson Hospital Is Now In Complete Use

OFFICIALS WELL PLEASED TODAY

New Institution Is Functioning Well—Old Hospital Closed

With a minimum of confusion and no delays the work of transferring the patients of the Shennango Valley hospital to the Jameson Memorial Hospital was finished Saturday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The new hospital is now functioning well.

Those patients who could not be moved in automobiles were transferred by ambulance and for this work every ambulance in the city was given without charge.

The work of the funeral directors of the city in donating their ambulances for the transfer was a service that is deeply appreciated by the director of the hospital, Carl A. Brimmer and by the board of directors.

Nurses Accompany
The work of transfer started about 1:15. As each patient was brought down from the room or ward, volunteers were in the corridor to carry him to the ambulance, and on each ambulance a registered nurse was taken, to care for any emergency that might arise.

A registered nurse also was on every automobile that carried non-ambulance cases, and every detail attending to the transfer was taken care of efficiently.

The first patient taken out of Shennango Valley was Mrs. Josephine Birchard of Ellwood City; following her, the others were transferred with (Continued On Page Five)

Continuation Of Seever's Murder Case Is Asked

Petition Sets Forth That The Defense Is Not Ready To Go To Trial

HEARING WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY

Petition for the continuation of the case of James D. Seever, charged with the murder of his wife, Stella Seever, and Mrs. Catherine Rodgers, was presented to court this morning by Attorney Edwin K. Logan.

In making the application Attorney Logan set forth that the defense was not ready to go to trial.

It was claimed that a Dr. Barker, who had prescribed for Seever for a disease with which he was afflicted, lives in West Virginia, and that it had been impossible to get in touch with him as he is away from home.

It was also set forth that Seever had lived in a dozen or more places, and had been treated in different hospitals, and that it was impossible to get the evidence necessary regarding his condition in time for the trial.

It was further set forth that there are two unnamed witnesses who have not yet been secured.

Hearing Tuesday.
The murder occurred on July 25 and District Attorney J. Elder Bryan was of the opinion that the defense should be ready.

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers set tomorrow morning for hearing the petition. Attorney Logan was directed to notify Cleveland attorneys who are interested to be present.

Testimony will be taken tomorrow morning which will determine whether or not the case will go to trial at the present term of court.

WILL AWARD CONTRACTS FOR 20 MILES OF HIGHWAY

(From News Bureau, State Capital.)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—Bids for the improvement of several road sections of interest to motorists in New Castle and Lawrence county will be opened here Thursday and Friday by the highway department.

The lettings include more than 20 miles of road in Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties as well as the construction of one new bridge in Lawrence.

The most important project is on the Perry highway in Lawrence and Butler counties. It is 5.04 miles in length and will be paved with concrete. The project is located in Mud-dy Creek, Slippery Rock, Scott and Washington townships.

Another paved road between New Castle and Pittsburgh will be available following the paving of 5.33 miles of road in Franklin township, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Previous on Legislative Route 347. This section of road is between Ellwood City and Zelienople. Except for the portion to be paved in the next letting the remainder of the road between the two cities is entirely improved.

A new bridge over Taylor run on route 233 in Scott township, Lawrence county is called for in the letting. It is a structure with a road surface of 33 feet plus a five-foot sidewalk.

The bridge is to be built of concrete, 35 feet in length and will be able to follow the paving of 5.33 miles of road in Franklin township, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Previous on Legislative Route 347. This section of road is between Ellwood City and Zelienople. Except for the portion to be paved in the next letting the remainder of the road between the two cities is entirely improved.

The other project on next week's letting of interest is in South Pymatuning township, Mercer county. It is 1.7 miles in length and will be able to follow the paving of 5.33 miles of road in Franklin township, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Previous on Legislative Route 347. This section of road is between Ellwood City and Zelienople. Except for the portion to be paved in the next letting the remainder of the road between the two cities is entirely improved.

The bids were rejected.

Mrs. Mary Horgen, aged 71, of 308 East 10th street, Homestead, died Sunday morning in the New Castle hospital as a result of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Butler road, near Ellwood dancing pavilion, on Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Horgen suffered a shattered right arm which had to be amputated, cuts and bruises about the head, and presumably internal injuries. She was sitting in the back seat of a Ford sedan which was overturned.

Daughter Driving.
Miss Margaret Horgen, aged about 25, a teacher in the Cleveland, O. schools, was the driver of the car. Other occupants were Miss Bess Horgen, a sister, and Paul Morgan, aged about 19, and a grandson of Mrs. Mary Horgen, the deceased.

According to the story told by J. P. Caldwell by Miss Margaret Horgen, the driver, they had started from Homestead for Cleveland about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

After they came through Rose Point they got into quite a long line of traffic. There were cars in front of and behind Miss Horgen's car as they approached Ellwood. Miss Horgen said that she tried to keep a considerable distance from the car ahead of her, but when the space became too wide, another car would always pass her and occupy it. A car had passed her a short distance east of the scene of the accident, but (Continued On Page Five)

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 9.—Burglars escaped with almost $800 in merchandise and cash it was found when the robbery of the Fred Williamson dry goods store at the center of town here was discovered late Sunday afternoon.

Entering his store yesterday to make a minor adjustment to the display windows, Mr. Williamson found that the building had been broken into and ransacked. The safe had also been pilfered of its contents.

No one has yet been located who moved any signs of robbery up to the time Mr. Williamson discovered the loss, but the time of burglarizing is placed between midnight Saturday and dawn Sunday. Local and State authorities were called in immediately (Continued On Page Two)

Nine Killed In Auto Accidents Over Week-End

Nine Meet Death, Forty-Two Injured In State As Result Of Motor Accidents

(International News Service)
Nine persons were killed and a total of 42 injured in automobile accidents in Pennsylvania during the week-end, the summary made by International News Service today revealed. The Pittsburgh section led with four killed and 20 injured in a series of crashes.

The Philadelphia section had the next highest total with three killed and one injured.

The most appalling accident occurred at Pittsburgh when a mother and two children were killed when their car went over an embankment and was demolished. At New Castle an 11-year-old woman was killed when the machine driven by her daughter was forced from the road and overturned.

The car was in a lane of traffic which stopped suddenly and it was necessary for the driver to turn off in order to avoid collision. At Meadville a serious accident occurred when one person was killed and three hurt. The list of killed and injured follows:

Pittsburgh—Four killed, 20 injured. New Castle, Pa.—One killed, two injured.

Meadville, Pa.—One killed, three hurt.

Franklin, Pa.—Four injured. New Brighton, Pa.—Five hurt.

Lancaster—Three Philadelphia men hurt and arrested on suspicion of having stolen car when machine crashed into fire plug.

Harrisburg—One man hurt in collision.

Millersburg—Three hurt when machine plunged into roadside embankment.

New Kingston—Two men, pilot and passenger slightly injured when passenger airplane unsuited to landing field and was demolished.

Philadelphia—Three killed and one injured.

Atlantic City—One drowned during swimming race.

Somers Point, N. J.—Unidentified girl killed by trolley car.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bissell of Washington, Pa., who have many friends in the city, were visitors here yesterday on their way to Canada where they will spend their vacation.

Mr. Bissell is a superintendent at the Consolidated Can Works at Canonsburg.

When the frost is on the pumpkin and the hay is in the shed, when the radishes are gathered and the apple crop is in, when the leaves are all harvested, and puddles in the yard, that's the time to think of making up the good old family can. For the mountain sides are calling and the roads are long and hard, and there are no use of staying in the corners of your yard. There are sights to see and value there are folks to visit too, there's a chance to see the sunset in shades of blue. Cruiser Phase Deters Accord

Anglo-American Naval Limitations Hinge On Question Of Cruisers

DAWES-McDONALD HOLD CONFERENCE

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 9.—Anglo-American naval limitation discussions are still concentrated upon the troublesome cruiser phase. It was understood this afternoon.

According to 10 Downing street—Premier MacDonald's office and official residence—United States Ambassador Charles Gages Davies saw the premier after the week end.

This meeting apparently took place yesterday as the premier was at Calcut for the Schneider cup race until late Saturday.

It is learned from an authoritative source that a British cruiser program considerable under 340,000 tons is under discussion between London and Washington.

The figures discussed, it is said, would enable President Hoover to dispense with some of the United States 15 cruiser program.

According to Washington reports, cabled here, "The British had consented to reduce the British cruiser program to 340,000 tons. There is a discrepancy between the British and American news reports in view of the understanding here today that the British are going below 340,000 tons in their cruiser program."

Young Pa Newc would like to know the history of the three white hand prints on a brick wall in Cochran Way. The prints have been there for probably twenty years. Does any one know who made them?

The Mahoning viaduct is being pointed in places by workmen. This is done at intervals, to prevent rusting.

Dry weather that existed prior to the rains of the past few days resulted in leaves coloring on many of the trees and the rain brought them down. Under some trees about the city the ground is covered. It is an unusual situation as leaves do not generally fall until after the first frost of the season.

There are a lot of auto drivers who apparently have little regard for danger they develop. In all of the heavy traffic on North Jefferson street on Saturday evening a number of drivers persisted in making U-turns at various street intersections between Grant and Washington streets.

Several flocks of grackles were noted about the city during the past few days. The birds seem to be on the move probably enroute south for the fall and winter.

There seemed to be a large increase in church attendance downtown Sunday morning if the number of cars parked on downtown streets during church hour can be taken as a criterion.

Workmen are making good progress on the erection of the new First United Presbyterian church on Albert street and Clemons boulevard. The stone work on the exterior is almost completed and the church is now ready for roofing.

There are a large number of auto drivers who are driving through the red light at Laurel and Highland avenues. Pa News is informed.

When the merger of Epworth and Grace was suggested, he put aside any personal feelings he might have had in the matter and realizing that it was for the good of Methodism, threw himself whole heartedly into the matter.

His next charge will not be announced until the conference in Meadville this week is completed, but his many friends here are hoping that he will be given a place where his abilities will find the fullest expression.

He is one of the younger pastors of the New Castle district and will be fully ordained on Sunday afternoon, September 15, in Old Stone church in Meadville. A number of New Castle people are planning to attend.

TARIFF BATTLES IN SENATE WILL COMMENCE TODAY

that question is decided, the Senate will be the scene of a continuous battle for three or four months, first over administrative features of the tariff and then over the rates which the Republican organization fixed.

Republicans Under Fire
The administration was under fire from two sides as the battle started. First, the coalition denounced the administrative features and attacked the rates. Secondly, a group of farm organizations demanded higher duties on farm products, thus attacking the tariff schedule which Republicans declared was the highest in the history of tariff legislation.

The farm leaders, in a statement sent every senator, demanded higher duties on sugar, tobacco, cattle, cheese, flaxseed, white potatoes, raw wool, hay, staple cotton and a long list of vegetables.

Purplexing Situation
They specifically demanded restoration of the 24-0 duty on Cuban sugar, which the House approved by which Senate Republicans reduced. This farm appeal was made in behalf of the national grange, the American Farm Bureau federation and a number of wool, dairy, livestock, cotton and vegetable cooperatives.

The demand of the farm organizations created a perplexing situation in the Senate. The insurgents, who come from the middle west, have joined with Democrats in attacking the new Republican rates as too high. If they respond to the appeal of the farm organizations, the insurgents will have to change their program to the extent of pleading for higher agricultural rates, while opposing increases in industrial rates. Such a procedure will further complicate a tariff battle already intricate.

BURGLARS SECURE MONEY AND GOODS IN COLLEGE TOWN

by the proprietor but they discovered no good clues.

Enter Through Basement
The thieves gained access to the store building through a window in the rear of the basement, opening the window after cutting away a pane of glass. A stout bar was used to force open the locked doors leading from the basement room up to the store sales room. To cover their escape the thieves put out an alarm light which illuminated an alley leading from the back of the pillared store through the yard of the Campbell Lumber company.

One hundred and thirty dollars in cash were taken from the safe and merchandise roughly estimated to value over $600 was stolen from the store. Shirts, shoes, socks, ties, jewelry, handkerchiefs, cosmetics, gloves and leather goods were stolen. But the fact that the thieves took only goods which might be used by individuals points to amateur work. Wholesale stealing of any one type of article was not noticed and evidence of haste and fright were noticeable.

No insurance was carried on the merchandise by the owner of the newly opened store and the loss of time between the robbery and its discovery is in favor of the robbers. The amateur character of the work may lead police to clues which will result in arrests.

An automobile must have been used for escape by the thieves and they are also being credited with the pilfering of a cash drawer of a gasoline station in Mercer on the same night.

The new "super" tires are said to last as long as the car, which may just mean that a car on rigid tires doesn't last long.

Deaths of the Day

Margaret A. Harzell.
Margaret Anna Harzell, aged 20 weeks, infant daughter of Chester and Margaret Patton Harzell died this morning at 3:30 at the family home, 908 Chestnut street.

Besides her parents the baby leaves four brothers, her grandparents, J. E. and Anna Patton and John Harzell.

Cuts Wife And Faces Charge

Officer Suber answered a call at 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning to the home of Peter Ross on South Cedar street and found that Ross had severely cut his wife on the face with a peculiar sharpened piece of steel. He had cut her across the face just missing the eye. Ross was arrested and held at the police station until Sunday when he was turned over to Alderman H. G. Coates before whom he has been charged with an offense in keeping with the injury inflicted on his wife.

Man Hunted For Murder That Occurred Nine Years Ago
Is Finally Located

(International News Service)
BELLARE, O., Sept. 9.—Salvatore Asquerra, 40, is in jail here today awaiting a hearing on a nine-year-old murder charge. He is accused of having shot Pietro Debarardo on September 12, 1920. He was brought here last night from Waukegan, Ill. Sheriff Ford Moore and Police Chief McMahon said the man has confessed he killed Debarardo but maintains he shot in self defense.

Police records show Debarardo and Jimmie Julian of Benwood, W. Va., were enticed from their homes to the home of Carlo Laciore in Bellare on the fatal day and shot as they entered the house. Debarardo was instantly killed but Julian recovered. Laciore disappeared with Debarardo and no trace has yet been found of him.

STAR LORE
MAGNIFICENT PLANET JUPITER
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The planet Jupiter is the giant of all the worlds in the solar system. Its equatorial diameter is 88,000 miles, while its polar diameter is 7,000 miles. Jupiter is a magnificent object; its mass—amount of matter—is 318.34 times that of the earth. Though more than 11 times as remote from the earth than Venus, its brightness as observed with the naked eye, closely rivals that of the fixed stars. As it requires nearly 12 years to complete 12 revolutions around the sun, it spends about one year in each of the 12 constellations of the zodiac. (More tomorrow)

MISS JENNIE PRINGLE WEDS WILLIAM BRYAN

PARTY CELEBRATES ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Jennie F. Pringle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pringle of Utica, N. Y., formerly of this city, to William E. Bryan, son of L. E. Bryan of Court street, this city.

The ceremony was solemnized at noon Saturday in the Third United Presbyterian church parlors, with the pastor, Rev. S. B. Copeland officiating. They were unattended.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the home of the groom's parents, with covers laid for six.

Mrs. Bryan is a graduate of the local high school and has been employed at The Castle Beauty Parlor.

Mr. Bryan is employed as a machinist in Youngstown, O.

Following a wedding trip to Lakefield, Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will reside on Court street.

Mrs. J. A. McFall, Wilmington avenue, entertained a number of little guests in her home Saturday afternoon, in honor of the 11th birthday of her daughter Eleanor.

The hours were delightfully spent with games and contests on the lawn, and prizes were awarded. Margaret Hurst, Martha Bell Shaffer, and Ruth Gibson.

At 5:30 supper was served for the children, at small tables on the lawn. Baskets filled with candies and novel place cards marked places for 15. Dresden color tones prevailed in the appointments, and colorful paper hats were given as favors.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughters, Mrs. Sam Frank, and Mrs. Don McFall.

Those present were the Misses: Thelma Morgan, Nedra Sargent, Martha Nell Shaffer, Martha May Shaffer, Glennia Goad, Peggy Wilkins, Betty McCurdy, Mary McCall, Ruth Gibson, Margaret Hurst, Grace Clark, Helen Dolin, Maribory Haldebrand and Lusia Cain.

G. A. R. Ladies.

Mrs. William Klockner of Butler avenue, entertained the G. A. R. Ladies at an attractively appointed dinner at her home Friday. An elaborate menu was served at noon at tables decorated with a profusion of garden flowers. Covers were laid for 50.

The aids in assisting the hostess were Mrs. Martha Tripp, Mrs. William Klockner, Mrs. Joseph Hammond and Mrs. Boston.

The after dinner hours were spent socially.

U. C. T. Auxiliary

Members of the U. C. T. Auxiliary will have their anniversary dinner Friday evening at seven o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. C. Burnside, Highland avenue. Those planning to attend will call 833-R or 2574-R not later than Wednesday.

A poem from the Union Signal on the subject "Why the W. C. T. U. Must Keep on Going" was given by Mrs. Long. Delegates were appointed to attend the county convention on Thursday, September 12, in this city. Dainty refreshments were served during the social hour at the close of the program.

PLAN TREASURE HUNT AT LOCAL FIELD CLUB

So successful have the monthly parties of the New Castle Field Club been this summer that the house committee, with Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson as chairman, has added another party to the schedule, this one to be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 12.

The party is billed as a treasure hunt and harvest home feast, with the treasure hunt starting at 5:30 o'clock. Two hunts will be conducted, one that will take the treasure seekers out over the golf course, and another for older people. The latter will be around the clubhouse.

Prizes of gold will reward the treasure hunters for their pains, and at a meeting Saturday night the committee in charge made out the clues, deciding the hiding spots for the hunt, and made other preparations which seem to indicate a successful affair.

The committee in charge of the treasure hunt consists of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Street, Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Eder, Mrs. Samuel Perry, Miss Emilie Salomon, Miss Elizabeth Weingartner, Arthur Brown, Samuel Perry Jr., George Johnson and Bart Richards.

Every member urged to attend, and reservations for the dinner for that evening are now being made. The harvest home feast will consist of "hot dogs" and other wands, at the end of the treasure hunt.

A Message From Cuba.
Mr. Babson's Bump.
Meanwhile, They Fight.
Poison Gas? Certainly.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features
Synd., Inc.)

A message from Mr. J. M. Tarafa, presidente Comision Nacional Defensa Arzabal De Cuba, is appreciated:
"It reads: 'Fielos sus comentarios en El Mundo hoy sobre aranceles para azucar significan mi sincera y calorosa felicitacion por la defensa muy justa que hace de Cuba.'"

Mr. Babson sent the stock market down merely by saying it must go down. Stock gamblers are like children. It doesn't take much of a ghost to frighten them.

Friday men that really know about stocks contradicted Mr. Babson, and stocks went up.

Mr. Babson, like the rest of us, only knows what Mr. BABSON knows. Recently he was in the middle of the Florida land boom. And perhaps that warps his vision.

If he keeps his Florida land, he'll make money, if he bought it with intelligence.

Those that have bought stocks with any intelligence will make money if they keep them.

Geneva cables that "Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations idea" has discovered that it can't prevent war, even among its members.

Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary in Britain's Labor government, suggests an agreement among seven big nations to outlaw war. BANISH IT. END IT.

Excellent idea. Europe should stop fighting if possible.

But good resolutions that drunkards make when sober are forgotten when they are drunk. What applies to drunkards applies to nations that have the fighting habit.

What would Mussolini, for instance, do if somebody stepped on his toes? He answered, plainly enough, in the Greek incident.

Meanwhile small bodies of British troops are fighting larger bodies of Arabs in Palestine. Bedouins, most savage of the Semitic fighting tribes, have come in from Sinai.

The quickest way to quiet that neighborhood would be consistent, persistent use of airplanes, bombs and gas. Arabs respect what they don't understand.

But the British are conservative, patient, wise, moving slowly. Where religious hatreds are concerned, they will kill as fast as possible.

As the United States, listening to common sense, will continue developing gas warfare.

Gen. Gilmist, head of the army's chemical department, says gas is the kindest thing in war. With the right kind of gas, you could render millions unable to fight, without hurting them much. That's comforting.

But, whether or not gas is comfortable or uncomfortable for the enemy, gas warfare should be fully developed. We shall never gas anybody that doesn't come looking for serious trouble. But we should have assorted gases ready—mustard gas, tear gas and the kind that the angel of death used on Sennacherib's army.

Russia, convinced that capitalism dreads and fears her, accuses China of refusing to be friendly, because capitalist influences control her. Capitalistic governments are too busy with their own problems to plan interference for Russia.

They accuse Russians of propaganda destined to overthrow respectable government by money. Some truth in both complaints, perhaps.

Britain's Labor government seeks a way to "end strikes and lockouts." In a recent cotton strike, workers lost $5,000,000 a week in wages. Mills lost $7,000,000 a week in export trade, and must fight to get it back.

Arbitration is the only way. If the Labor government can find arbitrators that both sides will trust, persuade employers to play fair, and union men to keep bargains, when they find they don't like them, it will render inestimable service to Great Britain, and teach this country something it needs to learn.

From the material point of view, Russia will gain by her "continuous industrial year."

There will be no stoppage of machinery, on Sunday or other days, during 360 days each year. The five other days, six in leap years, will be devoted to patriotic, Bolshevik holidays.

Each man will have his rest time, longer than under our six-day and Sunday plan. But machinery will never stop, except for repairs.

To make machines work all the time, and give men reasonable leisure would be the ideal program. But, of course, Sunday should not be neglected—especially on a basis openly hostile to religion.

Bible Thought
For Today

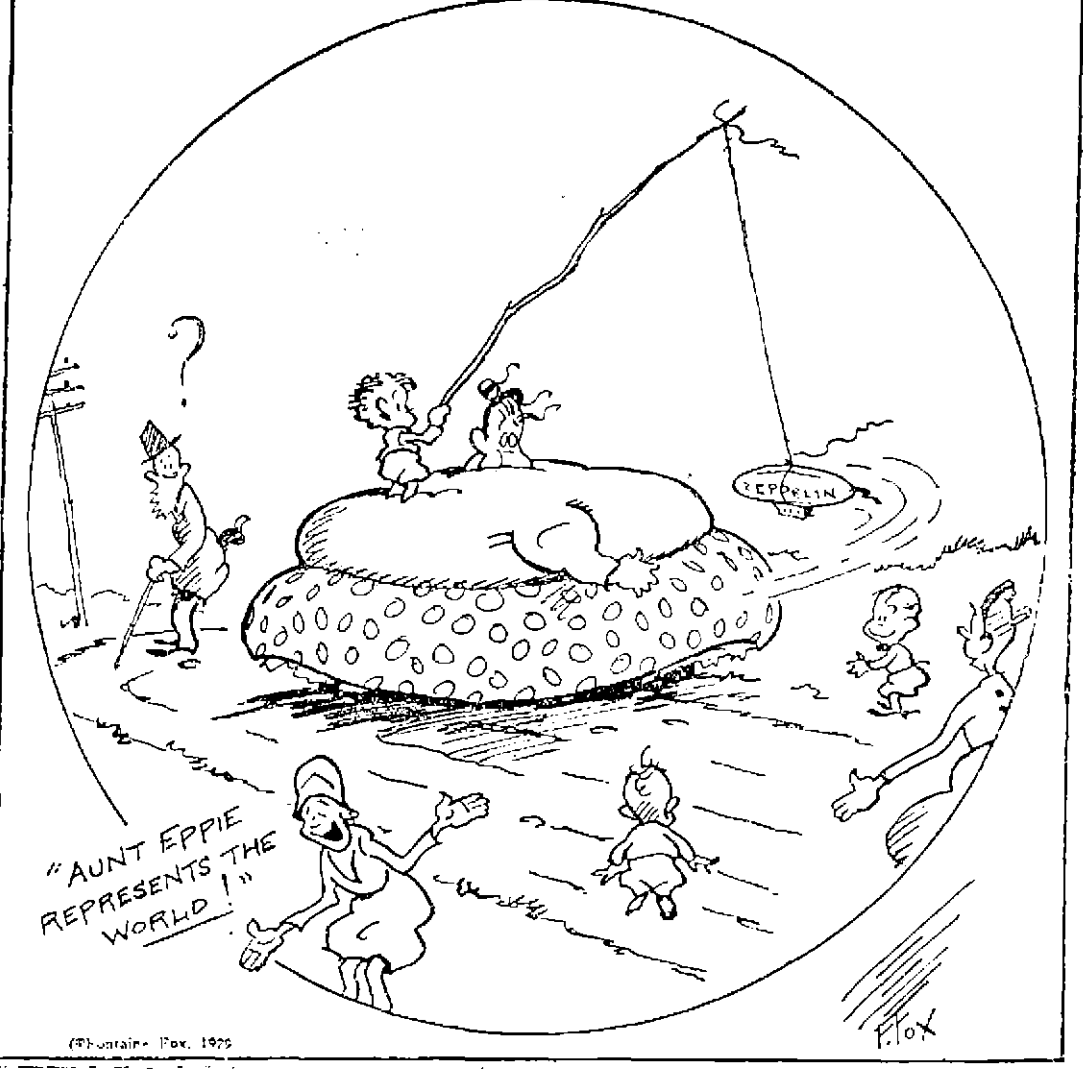

The Preparation for Service—And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness. Being forty days tempted of the devil. And in those days he did eat nothing and when they ended, he afterward hungered.—Luke 4:1-2.

Prayer: Lord, succor us, For Thou wert tempted and tried in all points like as we are and yet without sin.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:20. Sun rises, of them placed over his shop the tomorrow 5:35.

When you see Democrats and "independent" Republicans getting together in Washington you can make up your mind someone is going to lose something. The taxpayers being the losers of course.

A girl with freckles used to be considered an ugly chicken. Now, however, freckles are very kalish and a young lady won a beauty contest recently just because of her well regulated and prominent freckles. Omy-gosh!

CAUGHT

"Deacon White," said Parson Jackson, softly, "will you lead us in prayer?"

There was no answer.

"Deacon White"—this time in a little louder voice—"Will you lead?"

Still no response. Evidently the deacon was sulimbering. Parson Jackson made a third appeal and raised his voice to a high pitch that succeeded in arousing the drowsy man.

"Deacon White, will you lead?" The deacon, in bewilderment, rubbed his heavy eyes and blurted out: "Lead yourself—I just don't!"

About all that can be said about some humans is that they are no good.

Folks don't burn midnight oil any more unless they live in the country.

I love old Undertaker Drear. He is a square pal, bless his soul. But if I follow him, I fear That he will put me in a hole.

Another thing the ultimate consumer pays without realizing it is the salary of the bill collector.

Women, it is claimed, helped boost the sale of cigarettes five billions in one year. Heinz preserve us!

This one is too good for us to pass. Joe Ford of The News Company room was in Detroit on Labor Day. As he was standing beside his parked car near the depot in Detroit a man came up to him and seeing "New Castle" on his car asked if he was from New Castle and if he knew Fred Rantz. Joe told him he sure did as he has worked on The News 14 years. The stranger said "When you get back you tell Fred Rantz that you saw the biggest safoth that ever walked the streets of New Castle." He would not tell Joe who he was but stepped into a taxi cab and drove away. We know so many of that kind we cannot place him either. We cannot even tell which one is the biggest.

"Won't you give a shilling to the Lord?" said a Salvation Army girl to an old Scotchman.

"How auld are ye, lassie?" he inquired.

"Nineteen, sir."

"Ah, weel, I'm past 75. I'll be seel' Him afore ye, so I'll hand it to Him myself."

Hubby (viewing shirt just home from laundry): "Well, I always knew that we needed a new lace curtain."

The reason so few of us attain success is because it costs more than we are able to pay.

One of the most important offices is that of school director. Those elected should be free from all partisan politics. Decency should prevail in all the activities of a school board member. A political machine has been in process of building in the schools locally by some bird who would try to profit politically. You can easily find out the facts if you ask.

Need Of Organized Defense
In Palestine Is Recognized

British Duty Under Mandate Provisions Is Declared Outstanding, While There Is Sympathetic Support For Jews

One outstanding fact in connection with the comment on the attacks upon Jewish colonists in Palestine by the British Mandate is the generally expressed belief that the new political organization in that Near East area is receiving deserved support of the civilized world. Belief is general that Great Britain will fulfill its mandate obligations and that there must be an organized defense.

"Genuinely as the American people, and civilized peoples everywhere, hope for better days in Palestine," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "they are constrained to wonder, with Senator Borah, whether anything but a recurrent 'international shambles' is, or ever can be, in prospect in Palestine." Similarly the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL feels that since "nationalistic, more than religious, motives primarily provoked the violence," though order "no doubt will be restored, at least temporarily, permanent peaceful stability is exceedingly remote."

"Nothing—hardly anything—a diminution of the essential glory" of the "pious, but immensely engaging, experiment that is being tried in Palestine," the COLUMBIA S. C. STATE declares. But, it asks, "can the handful, even if well chosen people, that is trying to make this glamorous experiment a success, expect to win against the 'immovable rock' of Arab character, fanaticism, frenzy and multi-tingedness?"

"Britain has sought to induce 'the various races of Palestine to live as good neighbors,'" says the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR. "Such they should be, and such they may yet become. As between the conflicting claims of Jew and Arab, it is worth noting that Palestine is a small land, no larger than Vermont, and the only national home the Jew can find his own, while the Arab is master of a peninsula one-third the area of our republic." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH maintains that "the world owes little in the way of civilized progress to the Arab and very much to the Jew," and concludes that "the Jew is indeed, entitled to build anew on the ruins of his temple and the wreckage that was once the homes of his fathers."

"The safety and property of peaceful Jewish citizens must be protected," asserts the CLEVELAND NEWS, "and they must be left free to practice the religion of their forefathers. England's problem is a difficult one, yet she must take determined steps to bring permanent peace to blood-red Palestine. In this task she will have the active interest and cooperation of every civilized nation."

The suggestion abroad that Great Britain abandon the Palestine mandate is condemned by the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, with the comment: "National honor would prevent the British government from following a course of that kind." The Observer feels that Britain must accept "the duty of renewed activity in suppression of the Arab war movement, to immediate establishment of safety for the Jews."

In the events now taking place in the Near East, as viewed by the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, "it is to be found a solid justification of the supervision of Palestinian affairs by a great power. In seeking to re-establish order in the Holy Land, Great Britain is performing a service not only to the inhabitants, but to the cause of civilization." The DETROIT NEWS states: "Most people will believe that that British government has means to keep its promises, but the world feels that the integrity of its purposes will be made more clear if, after it has punished those who are fomenting these disorders in Palestine, it punishes as sharply as possible those officials whose carelessness and business made the tragedy possible."

Peace for the Labor government's "decision and promptness" in this is given by the PHIL

JOHN COOLIDGE'S FUTURE DISCUSSED

bridge-elect yet but he is eagerly looking to the day when he will go to Northampton, Mass., the Coolidge home town, to rehearse the ceremony, two days prior to the wedding.

Known Family for Ten Years
"I have been intimately acquainted with the Coolidge family for about a decade. During that time I was pastor of the Edward's Congregational church in Northampton and scoutmaster of the troop in which both John and his younger brother, Calvin, Jr., became members," the young minister says.

The wedding ceremony will be the first Coolidge family affair that the Rev. Mr. Welles has conducted since he left his Northampton pastorate two years ago to take the pulpit at one of Albany's oldest and most aristocratic churches, the Westminster Presbyterian church, situated opposite the state capitol.

The Rev. Mr. Welles last officiated at the burial services for Calvin, Jr. in Northampton and Plymouth, Vt. in Northampton and Plymouth, Vt.

Predicts Success
John Coolidge, in the estimation of his former minister and scoutmaster will be a successful business man, for he is like his father in many respects.

"John is a fine boy," according to the Rev. Welles. "He is quiet and reserved. He is a conscientious worker; he always has been a worker. I never have seen him loaf or idle. If success will come to anyone who is willing to give his whole self to his position, success will surely come to John Coolidge."

"The boy has good judgment. With all the publicity, all the notoriety he has received during the last few years, his head has not been turned. He has kept his two feet on the ground. John will make his own way, though I do not know what he plans. He is a boy who can make his own way. His father never has used his pull for his family, nor will he try to use his influence to get John on in the world."

WOMAN FATALLY INJURED AS CAR IS OVERTURNED

Landscaper Combed
"When we left Los Angeles," he said, "Rice had orders to zigzag over the Western Air Express route in Arizona and Mexico. Before we left Rice told me he believed the City of San Francisco would be found near Grants, the city which last saw the ill-fated liner in flight."

"The passengers and the crew kept a close lookout as we passed over the bad lands. As we neared Mount Taylor B. W. Dieber, co-pilot, was at the controls. Rice was back in the cabin. Courier Johnson was seated near me.

"As we skirted the south side of Mount Taylor Johnson saw something he said looked like a pile of tin cans. As he started to point I noticed what I thought was snow. Rice saw it at the same time. He hurried to the front of the plane.

"It was only a few seconds until we were certain that we had found the lost City of San Francisco. We circled the wreckage three times, each time at a little lower altitude: from the looks of things I believe the plane first crashed and then caught fire."

Officials Gratified
No publicity was given the time of transfer and as a result few people knew it was going on until it was over. Save for a few odds and ends of furniture and equipment in the old Shenango Valley hospital, it is now just an empty building.

The officials of the hospital's worked night and day in preparation for the transfer and are much gratified at the success of the work.

Correct this sentence: "There isn't a single object in my house," said she, "that I could part with without regret."

SHE THOUGHT:
"It's all right to perspire, but that's no excuse for 'B.O.'"

Yes, to be polite,

SHE SAID:
"Let's move over where there's a breeze."

He couldn't make friends until he found out why—"B.O."

GIRLS admired George, a handsome fellow. But when he came close—they quickly lost all interest.

What was the matter? George couldn't guess. But luckily, someone put him wise. "B.O." Body Odor! Today, George is popular everywhere. Read his story below.

"I'm always pretty active, naturally I perspire. In summer especially, what with heat and exercise, the sweat just drips off me.

"Yet I never dreamed I was guilty of 'B.O.' Thousands are fooled like this. I've learned, because we become insensitive to ever-present odors. But everyone perspires as much as a quart of odor-causing waste daily.

"Now, I play safe—and I'm strong for Lifebuoy. Man, there is nothing else can make me feel so clean. Its antiseptic lather purifies pores. No chance for 'B.O.'"

"Lifebuoy's a great skin soap, too. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent, that vanishes as you rinse, just tells you Lifebuoy purifies."

Cop Leads Speeder To Hospital; Jail

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Get out of my way, quick! gasped Mitchell P. Cannon of this city when Motocycle Policeman Moll stepped out with warning hand to halt Cannon's speeding car on the Crescent boulevard in Camden.

"My baby is sick. I gotta get him to the hospital right away!"

"On all right, then," sighed the officer. "Follow me."

And away went the officer, through traffic and past stop lights at full speed. And away went Cannon, following dutifully at 55 miles an hour.

When the little cavalcade arrived at Cooper hospital, physicians examined the baby.

"Why, there's nothing wrong with that baby," the doctors said. "Maybe there's something wrong with the father. Maybe he's sick or something."

So away went the officer again, but this time at reduced speed. And away went Cannon, following dutifully, to the police station where charges of speeding and reckless driving were lodged against him.

Electro-Chemical Advances Will Be Given To Public

Newest Discoveries To Be Detailed Before Members Of National Society

By C. B. YORKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—The latest advances in the field of electro-chemistry will be detailed for public consumption when the American Electro-Chemical society meets here September 19, 20 and 21, for its annual convention. Delegates from all sections of the United States and a number of foreign countries will attend the sessions.

One of the features of the convention will be the explanation of the chemical formation of an iron sulfide to be the most chemically pure of any ever developed. The iron was made by Dr. T. D. Jensen, engineer in charge of the magnetic section of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company here.

According to Dr. Jensen the newly developed iron has electro-magnetic properties far superior than most of the iron now in use in the electrical machinery that is being manufactured in this address before the convention and will explain how the use of the new iron will increase the efficiency of electrical machinery.

In another address Dr. Arthur S. King of the Mount Wilson Observatory, Pasadena, Cal., will narrate how electro-chemistry has aided in the advance study of distant stars. Dr. King has developed a special electric vacuum furnace which renders magnetic vapors luminous. Using this furnace in connection with his observations of distant stars Dr. King was able to study spectra more minutely than was heretofore possible.

Dr. King's new method also permits an extension of temperature classification far into the ultra-violet.

W. P. Dobson and A. S. L. Barnes of the Hydro-Electric Power commission of Toronto, Canada will present the latest data on the production of hydrogen for use in the dirigibles by electrical decomposition of water. It is said that some of the newer type cells will take as much as 15,000 ampere, producing 150 cubic feet of hydrogen an hour.

Philly Has Zero Hour For Crashes

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Add this fact to your list of vital statistics. There's nothing more vital than knowing that you stand more chance of getting "knocked for a loop" in Philadelphia between the hours of 4 p. m. and 5 p. m. than at any other time during the day, according to the figures of the state bureau of motor vehicles, compiled by William H. Connell, director of the Regional Planning Federation of this city.

There were 2,553 motor vehicle accidents in the city so far this year, the figures showed in which 162 persons were killed and 2,371 injured. The evening hours were shown to be the most prolific in accidents, with Sunday leading all other days of the week.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

MR. AND MRS. WALKING STICK

Peter looked down at the ground. Sure enough the fierce little twig was telling the truth. There, almost under his shoe, was a second little "twig" thrashing about, apparently trying to rise to its feet. If Peter had seen it before at all he had thought it was a real twig. However, it was no time to argue, so he bent over and helped the nearly crushed little creature to stand upon its six legs, all of which had been waving in the air as it tried to get up. His wife lovingly laid one arm over the poor fellow's thin shoulders and there they stood, the two of them waiting for Peter to say something. As soon as he found his voice Peter apologized.

"I am very sorry, indeed, to have hurt you so, sir, but as sure as I am born, I had no idea at all there was anyone near me, much less at my very feet. Will you forgive me and let me do something to help you? If you are injured I can bind up your wound. Perhaps, if I have stamped the breath out of you, you will let me carry you to your home."

"Well, certainly you did crush me—that's only," replied the suffering little "twig" in a weak voice, "but, of course if you didn't see me it wasn't your fault. An accident's an accident, and can't be helped. It's only one more misfortune that comes of looking like a twig. I will feel all right, directly. I must rest for a few moments, though. Wife, help find me a soft spot, will you?"

"Of course, my dear. Here hang on this stem and you will be quite safe. I will stand near you."

If Peter had not watched them move off, when they stopped, he could not have told which were make-believe "twigs" and which the twigs they clung to. As soon as the wife had taken her place she called to Peter, quite as if they had just been discussing the matter.

"And why, pray, shouldn't we look like twigs when we are twigs of a sort—twigs of the animal kingdom. It is high time we introduced ourselves—Mr. and Mrs. Walking Stick, if you please."

STARCHY FOOD DIGESTANT

ANTI-ACID

MEAT AND MILK DIGESTANT

IN ONE STOMACH REMEDY

You can treat your stomach troubles in a new and better way with this new discovery—ACIDINE—almost magical in its action.

INDIGESTION AND ITS RESULTS: SICK STOMACH, GAS, BILIOUSNESS, COLIC, SICK HEADACHES, ACIDURIA, ACHILIA, VERTIGO, etc., all easy victims to the greatest advance in the treatment of these troubles ever made.

ACIDINE contains the most effective known starch digestant called "Diaspase." It liquefies potatoes, bread, rice, cereal and other starchy foods so that instead of remaining in semi-solid, fermenting, acid mass, these foods pass out of the stomach in a sweet, liquid condition with other foods. THIS STARCH DIGESTANT WILL DIGEST NOT ONLY ITS WEIGHT OF STARCHY FOODS, BUT IS HARMLESS, YOU CAN FIND IT IN NO OTHER MEDICINE.

ACIDINE is guaranteed to relieve YOUR trouble. If it doesn't, any druggist will return your money. Your druggist has it, or write Health Laboratories, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Man Suicides At Niagara Falls

Wades Into Rapids And Is Swept Over American Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—A man believed by Niagara state reservation authorities to have been F. A. Van Tatter, Buffalo, committed suicide Saturday by wading into the Niagara river a short distance above the American falls and being swept over the cataract. In a wallet left by the suicide on the river bank near Chief Prospect Point were membership cards of Chief Huron Lodge, No. 105, F. and A. M., and a lodge of the Improved Order of Red Men, both of Buffalo, made out to Van Tatter. No suicide note was found.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Rich and Mr. and Mrs. William Shuck, all of Lehigh, Pa., told reservation authorities they saw the man wade into the rapids. The swift current carried him off his feet and he was swept over the brink. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanson, 78 Armstrong avenue, Jersey City, N. J., were gazing up at the American falls from the lower bank near the Mouth of the Mist landing when they saw the man's body coming hurrying down the cataract and disappearing among the spray belated rocks below.

He is also thinking of attending the opening of the Nelson Laboratory at Detroit at a tentative date for which is October 11.

The trip also may include a visit to the Southwest, to be present at a celebration commemorating the sixtieth anniversary of the state's admission to the Union, and in that event Mr. Hoover may visit several cities in Texas.

All details for the body recovery, still are to be worked out.

Travel Over Hundred Miles; But Avoid Return On Detour

The writer hadn't expected to make a very long trip over the weekend, but after he had motored patiently over the "hardway" detour to Walpole, he decided to keep on going.

So he went to Lady Dale, New York State. This is the largest settlement of sportsmen in the world, a beautiful place on the Cayuga Lake.

From there the route led to North Warren, Pa., and a visit was made to the State Hospital there. A new addition has been built to this well equipped hospital and a newly built underground tunnel connects several of the main buildings.

From Warren to Oil City via a good unimproved road. The traffic on the hill from Oil City to Franklin was held back by an immense truck and as though that wasn't enough, it had a trailer. The cars plodded up the hills slowly, often having to stop en route. And at last, home.

A long trip, but the Walpole detour was cleverly avoided.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This much talked of horse shoe pitching championship seems to be still in the formative stage, or say the conversational stage. Lots of challenges and plenty of talk, but no pitching. Got a letter from the Park Avenue fire ladders this morning in which they attempt to set up that they are already champions.

Perhaps. But there's a challenge in from Laurel avenue which can't be laughed off and until the Park Avenue boys take them over, their claim is as good as any other. Here's the letter from Park Avenue:

September 9, 1929.

Dear Sir:—We notice a challenge in your paper from some unknown persons on Laurel boulevard. Now when these boys can show us a record, or give us a list of some they have defeated of note, we might take them on for a few games. But we do not want to play second or third class teams, as you know how it is for big fellows to go out of their class, even if they do lose.

Yours respectfully,
Park Avenue Fire Station.

The boys are rather snooty about the matter. Seems as though they haven't been properly introduced or something and you know how that is. A very doggy fire station, Park Avenue. When you have a fire they expect you to present your card, and the boys turn out in tuxedos.

But about this horseshoe match. They can't laugh off that quarter from Laurel boulevard. As far as who they defeated, I never heard of any cigars being named after the horseshoe champion of Park Avenue either, so as far as this column is concerned they will either have to play or take second place.

And while this agitation is going on it wouldn't be a bad idea to remember that out on the east side there are some sharpshooters in this game. John Beyman and some of the others might be interested. And the seventh ward fire station has some good ones also. But champions will have to be decided through playing, not talking.

Did a little roaming out at McConnell's Mills on Sunday afternoon. Looked like old home week out there, the cars were so thick. "Mose," the gentleman who has charge of affairs out there, was busier than a traffic cop at the corner of Croton and East Washington, and cars were spread out for a long way up and down the road.

Usually, the cars found out there on Sunday are from a distance, Pittsburgh providing many of them. The city people are wild about the place and among the beauty lovers down there, McConnell's Mills ranks as the high spot in this end of the state.

The next trip out there I am going through the cave up on the hillside. There is so much to see and so much to admire that a visitor has to decide just what particular thing he wants to see most.

Some of the boys at the Field club are playing better golf these days, since the greens committee is furnishing free tees. Takes the players' minds off the expense of the game. Now Fred Brown is suggesting that it would be a nice thing if the committee would provide free balls.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Party Is Event Of Saturday

Birthday Party Is Given For Russell Horchler; Other Notes Of Seventh Ward

A beautifully appointed party was given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Horchler on West Clayton street, in celebration of the fifth birthday anniversary of their little son, Russell Lee.

Twenty-two guests were seated around an attractively decorated table and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Horchler with Miss Marjorie Wettich, Mrs. Fred Linder and Miss Phyllis Cunningham as aides.

The table was decorated in tones of pink, with a large birthday cake and a surprise box in the center. Pink ribbons extended from the surprise box to the individual place card and candy baskets. Later in the evening the surprise box was opened and baby dolls were given the little girls and bouncing balls and miniature airplanes to the little boys.

Special guests were the Misses Thelma Patterson, Thelma Horchler and Betty Youngstown, of Youngstown, O.

Those present were: Lee Wilkinson, Paul Fisher, Sandra Lee Hamilton, Bobbie Horchler, Jimmie Walters, Kenneth Urey, Raymond Umstead, Harriet Letby, Thelma Mullen, Deen Sheidemandle, Harry and Catherine Owens, Kenneth Gibson, Joyce Reicht, Herbert Alexander, Marion Wallace, Ida Mitchell, Ruth and Jean Urey, Bernice Harrison and Clarence Horchler.

MAKE VEGETABLE FOODS DELICIOUS

Few Things Are More Important Than Balanced Diet in Promoting Health

Cooking experts are using their ingenuity to develop delicious methods of preparing vegetables. A well-known expert furnishes us this recipe for Polish Beets:

Peel 12 small cooked beets and mince fine with a fork. Put in a saucepan and sprinkle with a tablespoon of sugar. Add a tablespoon of vinegar, 1 tablespoon of salt and pepper, and heat. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter and blend with it 1 tablespoon of flour. Stir this into the mixture. Add ½ cup sour cream and heat.

Whatever recipe you are using and whatever vegetable you are cooking, try adding a dash of sugar for a new, enjoyable flavor. It is not the purpose of the sugar to make the vegetables taste sweet. Sugar brings out the delicate flavors of the foods and blends these with the seasonings used. Sugar is the master blender and the supreme condiment. It is the right hand of successful cookery.

Serve a varied, balanced diet. Serve at least two cooked vegetables daily. Serve at least two fruits daily. See that each member of your family drinks milk and eats milk desserts. Make meals appetizing by adding a dash of sugar while the meats are cooking. Use a dash of sugar to improve gravy, sauces and soups. Learn the art of serving colorful and satisfying desserts. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

CATCHES FOUR POUND BASS

Don Gilmore of N. Cedar street, succeeded in landing a four pound bass while fishing at Conneaut Lake, Friday evening. This exceptionally large fish was caught after a battle lasting half an hour.

This fish story differs from some others in that Mr. Gilmore was able to display the proof of his story to any who were sceptical.

Bass put up the biggest fight of any other game fish of the same weight.

VISITING AT TOLEDO.

Louis Orlando of E. Wabash avenue is spending a vacation period in Toledo with his sister.

Water Main Causes Flood In Street

(International News Service.)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Several hours after a break in a 36-inch water main in Liberty avenue here had flooded basements and undermined the street it was brought under control by employees of the city's water bureau.

The break, which occurred last evening, sent a two-foot stream of water 25 feet into the air. Police were forced to form "water lines" about it to keep throngs of curious back.

Damage is expected to amount to several hundred dollars.

Battle Starts For Securities

Estimate $200,000 Securities At Stake In Telluride Bank Mix-Up In Colorado

MISSING OFFICER IS BEING HUNTED

TELLURIDE, Colo., Sept. 9.—With $200,000 securities at stake, representatives of various interests involved in the one half million dollar financial scheme allegedly engineered by C. D. Waggoner, missing president of the Bank of Telluride, here, will meet today in an effort to obtain them for their clients.

The securities represent collateral on loans which Waggoner paid off with a portion of the half million dollars placed to the credit of the bank in the Chase National Bank of New York city after six New York banks had received fake telegrams from Denver requesting them to deposit amounts ranging from $75,000 to $100,000 for the Bank of Telluride.

Train Delayed.

The legal battle will open with the arrival here of a train already delayed by truck washouts. The package containing securities is addressed to the Bank of Telluride.

D. M. Hughes, Montrose, Colo., attorney who represents several New York institutions, will, through the sheriff's office, attempt to gain custody of the securities. Grant McPerson, state banking commissioner, on the other hand, has declared he will take any steps necessary to protect the Bank of Telluride and retain for its benefit any funds that Waggoner had deposited to its credit.

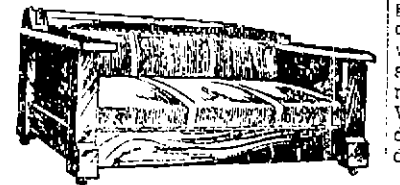

Four state banking examiners working under McPerson have taken charge of the affairs of the bank here and the missing man's institution at Norwood, Colo., the Bank of Norwood.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—The State Game Commission today announced it is distributing 600,000 resident hunters' licenses to county treasurers and that supplies will have been issued to all counties by Monday, September 16. Recent dry spell has demonstrated that the sewers of New Castle are adequate to take care of the sewage situation if surface water is kept out of them. During the dry spell only the regular sewage ran into the sewers and the mains took care of it with ease. At the sewage disposal not one-half of the volume came through as compared to wet weather. This proves beyond a doubt that the elimination of surface water is all that is necessary to solve the sewage problem until New Castle attains a larger growth. Work of checking up on rain spouts and other feeders of sanitary sewers is now under way.

East Pittsburgh Police Vexed By Regular Customer

Man Persists In Being Arrested; Has Been In Custody Ten Times

(International News Service) EAST PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—In a cell here this morning Barney Swearingen, 30, of Homewood, Pa., was prepared for the customary routine of being given a hearing, a warning and perhaps another jail sentence.

This procedure will probably bore Barney for, police say, this is "about the 10th time we've had him in the lock-up here." The police added that they wished he would stay out of East Pittsburgh, for he "causes too much trouble."

Yesterday he was picked up lying beside a fence, where he had reposed after passengers in an auto had thrown him out, the police say. The last time he was taken in for disorderly conduct he was charged with attempting to smash a straw hat while it was on the owner's head.

Former Pittsburgh Banking Clerk Is Returned From New York City After Arrest

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—W. B. Smith, former Oakland Savings & Trust company clerk, who disappeared August 15 with approximately $110,000 in securities and travelers checks, is in the central police station here today after being returned from New York by Detective Thomas Morgan. He was arrested a week ago in that city after his identity was learned when he attempted to dispose of his automobile.

Smith had only disposed of a small amount of the stolen money so the bank recovered almost everything taken. The clerk had between $6,000 and $7,000 in cash when arrested. When questioned by detectives he stated his downfall was not the result of speculating in the market but "high living."

Charges of larceny, forgery and embezzlement are filed against him.

Troop Wins Cup At Beaver County Horse Show Trials

Take Honors Over Artillery Unit From Ellwood City Saturday Afternoon

Representatives of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, New Castle's National Guard unit, won high honors at the Beaver county horse show, held Saturday afternoon at Patterson Heights, New Brighton.

Despite the fact that they had to use strange mounts, the local troopers, in charge of Sergeant George F. Miller, had little trouble in displaying a finer co-ordination in drill movements than the representatives of the 107th Field Artillery unit from Ellwood City, and were awarded a fine silver cup. The Ellwood City boys used their own mounts.

Sergeant Mitchell deserves considerable credit for his drilling and handling of the men, having been given full sway in the matter of choosing his squad and drilling them for the show by the troop officers.

In addition, the different members of the troop who were entered in the enlisted men's events covered themselves with honor, although no prizes were offered for these events.

50 DEGREES

is more than the mark on a thermometer

Too many people 50 degrees means a mark on a thermometer, but to those who know, it is a blazing signal. At that temperature stands the big dividing line between correct and incorrect refrigerated food.

A few degrees above fifty and bacteria multiply with speed... foods become contaminated, unsafe to eat. They must be thrown away... they are a total loss. A degree or two below fifty... bacterial growth is checked, foods remain safely fresh and wholesome for as long as you may care to keep them. Wastage is done away with and health is safeguarded.

The General Electric Refrigerator always automatically maintains a temperature several degrees below fifty... without any regulating or attention. It makes all the ice cubes you want, never needs oiling, has an accessible freezing regulator to speed up the freezing of desserts if you wish. Cross Charges In Palestine Dispute

Both Sides Blame Other For Firing First Shots

SITUATION TODAY GENERALLY QUIET

Jerusalem, Sept. 8.—A bitter exchange of words followed during the night in Palestine as the situation there was reported generally quiet but the third day in succession.

With the exception of a general boycott by both Jews and Arabs, nearly normal conditions now prevail. There remains considerable tension, however, and dispatches from Jerusalem indicate that the worst of the general inter-racial rioting is now past.

Prominent leaders of both faiths have taken opposite stands in dispute of their actions in the recent outbreaks. Amin El Husein, Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and president of the Moslem supreme council, has made a lengthy statement alleging that the first shot in the outbreak was fired by the Jews, a Jerusalem dispatch to the daily mail declares.

Charge Denied

Rabbi Grun, Schnef, a resident of Palestine for more than forty years, has quickly denied this charge, the dispatch continues.

The Grand Mufti stated he was convinced that an unbiased inquiry would show the Jews responsible for the outbreaks.

"Jewish ambition and greed," the Moslem leader declared, "were deliberately responsible for provoking the Arabs' attack in order to gain the support of the whole world for reopening the question of the Walling wall."

"The disturbances which led to great loss of life and property in Jerusalem and other Palestine centres were caused by the mistaken notion of a Jerusalem Jew who, in panic or deliberately, provoked the Arab attack by firing a revolver or throwing a bomb when he saw a large number with the usual Moslem sense of display bearing swords, daggers and sticks when leaving the Mosque of Omar."

Should Be Punished

In addition, the Grand Mufti charged, young Jews marched thru the Moslem quarter bearing national flags and singing national songs "at the same time insolently threatening Arabs."

"From that day until the fateful Friday, August 23, when the outbreak began," he continued, "there were many incidents of Jews insulting and attacking and injuring Arab men, women and children."

The statement bristled with numerous other charges, among them the allegation that Jews desecrated sacred Moslem tombs.

Rabbi Sonnenfeld, an aged scholar who is one of the most revered and respected Jews in Palestine lost no time in answering these charges on behalf of his people.

"I am disappointed," he said, "that after the continuous promises of the government that nothing would happen, on which promises the Jews of Palestine relied, that the horrible and unprecedented attacks occurred in Jerusalem and throughout Palestine."

"We do not demand revenge but we do insist that the severest punishment be meted out to the perpetrators of the recent crimes."

While Miss Laura Stevenson was the first patient admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital, she being admitted immediately after the doors opened at 12:30 p. m. Saturday, September 7, the first patient admitted after the transfer of patients from the Shennango Valley hospital was from Ellwood City, Mrs. George Gumble.

Mrs. Gumble was admitted at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The first accident case admitted was that of Miss Agnes Taylor of Butler, who was injured in an automobile accident Sunday afternoon. Her condition was not serious and after her wounds were treated she was discharged.

Joe Ruzic was admitted to the hospital today for medical treatment.

Annual Convention Of County W. C. T. U. Here September 12

Morning And Afternoon Sessions To Be Held In Central Presbyterian Church

The forty-fifth annual convention of the Lawrence County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Central Presbyterian church of this city, Thursday, September 12.

An attractive program of addresses and reports of county departments and other officers, interspersed with music led by Mrs. William J. Caldwell will be outstanding features of the day.

Musical numbers by the Henrietta Gardner quartet will also be a pleasing feature of the afternoon session.

The morning session will open at 9:30 D. S. T. with Miss Margaret Walker, the president presiding. Following the devotional period and the giving of reports, election of officers will take place.

The business addresses of the afternoon will be given by Attorney Wylie McCaslin who will speak on the subject "Our Cigarette Law" and Rev. S. B. Copeland whose theme will be "Watchman, What of Pennsylvania?"

The committees include the following: County—Mrs. G. C. Conner, Mrs. Thomas E. Proctor (treasurer)—Mrs. M. E. Vaughn; musical director—Mrs. J. W. McCrany; song leader—Mrs. W. J. Caldwell.

Officers of the county are: Mrs. S. E. McCrany, honorary president; Miss Margaret Walker, president; Mrs. D. P. Balph, vice-president; Mrs. Ida May Allison, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Peckles, recording secretary; Mrs. J. B. McClaren, treasurer.

The following program will be carried out:

FISHERMAN HOOKS
BIG BLACK BEAR
AND RACE BEGINS

PAINESVILLE, O., Sept. 9. — Dr. John E. Seymour and two ardent fishing companions tell a fish tale that beats anything heard around here this season.

Seymour cast his bait plug along shore and accidentally it sunk into the broad back of a big black bear who was hidden alongshore.

The bear ran, towing a party's boat after it. Then it reversed its charge and clambered for the boat. The three men shattered several oars over the bear's head before they reached shore and fled.

The bear followed closely, but after being outdistanced for about 100 yards, changed its mind and disappeared.

Mental Habit Of Counting Common To Many Persons

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Do you count the fence posts or houses on a road as you walk along the highway? If you have plenty of time, you may count the mental habit of counting is common to many persons, according to a study made by Professor Blachowski, of the University of Poznan, in Poland, who has counted several hundred students at the university and has found that 54 per cent of them have the inclination to count objects to a greater or lesser degree.

Reporting this investigation to the International Congress of Psychology, according to Science Service, Professor Blachowski said that heretofore scientists had been attracted chiefly to the extreme and abnormal cases, such as individuals who feel themselves powerfully compelled to count the steps they take or the words they hear, and who become ensnared to a habit that they feel helpless to change.

Women Exceed Men

Among university students, counting was more prevalent among women than among men. About two-thirds of the women had the inclination to count.

IT MADE MAN'S HEALTH BETTER THAN FOR YEARS

Claims New Medicine, Ten Herbs, Ended Ills, And Cleansed System.

It stands to reason that Ten Herbs is a medicine of exceptional merit, or why should thousands of men and women of this section be using it? Why would so many be endorsing this new compound in the daily papers if it is not just as represented? If you suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness, you had better take the advice of these reputable people and use Ten Herbs. At least learn more about Ten Herbs by calling at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where this famous medicine with the ten wonderful natural ingredients is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs not only relieved my indigestion, with which I had suffered for about nine years, but also made me feel better in every way," said Mr. Nicholas Walsh, 1128 Greenfield Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. "Before taking your medicine, food would ferment and fill me with gas, which troubled my heart. I had to keep taking physics on account of constipation, and at times I became so dizzy that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. My nerves were trouble, some, and I got very little sleep. My kidneys were not working properly and this caused pain in my back and compelled me to arise often at night. Although I tried different kinds of medicines, I never got satisfactory results.

"I started taking Ten Herbs, and it made me feel better than I had for nine years. My appetite became normal, and food no longer fermented. I was free of gas, and my heart felt better. My liver and kidneys were put in good condition. Dizzy spells and pains in my back disappeared, and night-rising was relieved. My nerves were more quiet, and my sleep became sound. Blood circulation was improved, and my whole system seemed to be given a thorough cleansing. I gained in strength and ambition. Ten Herbs helped me so much that I gladly recommend your medicine to others."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold by all leading druggists throughout this entire section.

I had to keep taking physics on account of constipation, and at times I became so dizzy that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. My nerves were trouble, some, and I got very little sleep. My kidneys were not working properly and this caused pain in my back and compelled me to arise often at night. Although I tried different kinds of medicines, I never got satisfactory results.

"I started taking Ten Herbs, and it made me feel better than I had for nine years. My appetite became normal, and food no longer fermented. I was free of gas, and my heart felt better. My liver and kidneys were put in good condition. Dizzy spells and pains in my back disappeared, and night-rising was relieved. My nerves were more quiet, and my sleep became sound. Blood circulation was improved, and my whole system seemed to be given a thorough cleansing. I gained in strength and ambition. Ten Herbs helped me so much that I gladly recommend your medicine to others."

IT MADE MAN'S HEALTH BETTER THAN FOR YEARS

Claims New Medicine, Ten Herbs, Ended Ills, And Cleansed System.

It stands to reason that Ten Herbs is a medicine of exceptional merit, or why should thousands of men and women of this section be using it? Why would so many be endorsing this new compound in the daily papers if it is not just as represented? If you suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness, you had better take the advice of these reputable people and use Ten Herbs. At least learn more about Ten Herbs by calling at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where this famous medicine with the ten wonderful natural ingredients is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs not only relieved my indigestion, with which I had suffered for about nine years, but also made me feel better in every way," said Mr. Nicholas Walsh, 1128 Greenfield Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ANSWERS MORE QUERIES

FOR OWNERS AND DRIVERS

Handfuls of queries are received daily at the Highway Department. In this column we attempt to answer some of the more common ones. The Motor Vehicle Bureau has decided to publish a column of answers to queries each week. The department is open to all queries.

Q. I have been driving an automobile 17 years and have never had an accident. My fenders are not scratched or mutilated, which in itself is a sign that I am a careful driver. Several days ago I received a summons for entering a through highway without stopping. I believe that to arrest a man with a record as clean as mine is an imposition. I believe motor patrolmen should be required to display better judgment. As a matter of fact I did not see the stop sign at the intersection. The amount of the fine does not disturb me—it is the injustice of this arrest.

A. There is nothing in the motor code providing that men who have driven for 17 years without an accident are free to violate the law which requires that all vehicles stop at the entrance to a through highway. In admitting that you did not see the stop sign you convict yourself of at least a momentary lapse which might have resulted seriously—and marred your clean record. Seventy percent of highway accidents occur at intersections. That is the reason the motor code includes the stop provision. Eight hundred drivers were arrested for violating this provision on Labor Day. As a matter of fact the number should have been 8,000—or perhaps 80,000. In time, of course, all drivers will be brought to recognize the fact that the stop sign means "Stop."

Q. What is the difference between a Motor Bus and a Motor Omnibus? A. The owner of a motor-bus is required to obtain a certificate of Public Convenience from the Public Service Commission, while an owner of a motor omnibus is not required to obtain such a certificate. Motor bus license plates are designated by the letter "O"; motor omnibus plates are designated by the letter "H".

Q. In a western Pennsylvania town on Labor Day, a stream of vehicles estimated at 3,200 per hour, met a stream of at least 2,000 per hour coming from the fair grounds. This traffic was controlled by two patrolmen. Both of them insisted that the main stream pass through the town single file. As a result blockades of the main stream were sometimes one-half mile long. What remedy can you suggest for a condition of this kind?

A. We are familiar with the town you mention, and know that similar blockades occur on every holiday. The way to speed the traffic on the main highway is quite simple—to send these cars through the town in a double line. This will necessitate a no-parking rule on the main street of the town but that will not be a hardship. The concrete street is wide enough for five traffic lanes, so that two double lanes can easily be handled. Congestion of this sort is usually a tribute to a lack of foresight on the part of those in charge of traffic.

Q. Give the names of owners of motor vehicles to whom registration and title certificates are issued free.

A. Federal government, any state other than Pennsylvania which issues titles or registrations to Pennsylvania without cost; any municipality or school district of Pennsylvania; duly authorized volunteer fire force; hospital; humane society or anti-cruelty society in Pennsylvania; American Red Cross; churches, Girl Scouts of America; Boy Scouts of America; Salvation Army; mine or industrial ambulance; ambassadors; ministers; consular representatives and other diplomatic representatives entitled to exemption under the terms of a treaty. All vehicles must be registered with this Bureau except those owned by the Federal Government.

Q. If a farmer moves a tractor on a highway or crosses a highway to get to another farm owned by him, must he have tags on the tractor?

A. No; provided connection between the farms is made by the most direct route.

Q. May a Notary Public witness the mark of an applicant who is unable to write his name? (b) May a Notary Public swear to his own application?

A. Yes, his signature should appear beneath the mark of the applicant. (b) No.

Q. If a title certificate is being assigned and the encumbrance listed on the face of the title is being transferred to the purchaser, what is required?

A. A letter from the person holding the encumbrance, stating that the encumbrance is transferred, or receipted face of the certificate with the encumbrance shown on the application of the new owner for the title certificate.

Q. I have a license for my Ford sedan. I am selling this car and have purchased a Geo. truck. I have applied for a transfer of my license to my new truck, submitting the necessary additional fee required, which is the difference between the fee for the Geo. and that paid for the Ford sedan. The Vehicle Code permits the immediate use of tags being transferred as soon as application has been forwarded to Harrisburg, but I am in doubt as to whether or not it applies to my case or only where the tags are being transferred to a vehicle registerable in the same class. In other words, can I legally operate my truck with passenger car license tags while my application for transfer is being acted upon at Harrisburg?

A. The Vehicle Code permits you to operate your truck for twenty days with passenger car license tags if your application for transfer has been forwarded to Harrisburg. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles will forward a new set of commercial license plates to you, which you should attach to your truck as soon as received, when you should immediately return your original tags to Harrisburg for cancellation.

Q. I have been issued a license entitling me to operate a motor vehicle. I have been told that this license also entitles me to operate a tractor. Is this information correct or must I apply for tractor operator's license in addition to my motor vehicle license?

A. Your motor vehicle operator's license entitles you to operate either a motor vehicle or a tractor.

Q. Can a person purchase a car from another state which does not issue titles? (b) Is the purchaser of such a car allowed to use his Pennsylvania license plates on such a car? A. Yes; but bill of sale must be secured which is required as proof of ownership in applying for Pennsylvania title and tags. (b) Yes; after applying for certificate of title and making application for the transferring of his Pennsylvania license.

No Limit To Age Of Census Takers

Government Refutes Rumors In Circulation In Some Sections

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Residents of Pennsylvania who are more than 42 years old and who desire to serve as enumerators in the national census next year need not fear elimination from consideration because of their age, the census bureau announces.

Reports have been reaching the bureau from many sources that rumors are afloat in a number of states that veterans over 42 years of age will not be eligible for appointment as enumerators irrespective of their military service. There is no truth in such reports as no age limit has been fixed for the appointment of enumerators the census bureau states.

According to officials of the bureau the leading questions asked in selecting enumerators will be: (1) Is the applicant physically and mentally able to do the work? (2) Does he reside in the district in which he will be employed? (3) Has he a good standing in the community and is he trustworthy?

Census bureau officials explain that a number of inquiries will be made to determine the foregoing qualifications, adding that the applicant will be required to prepare sample census reports for representative families based upon a narrative furnished for that purpose.

Secretary Of Labor Commands State Says All States Should Have Public Employment Agencies

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Pennsylvania is not out of step with the progress of time—it is one of the 12 states in the country which have come to realize the value of having a public employment service and have made provisions for establishing and maintaining public employment offices of high order the secretary of labor comments in a labor department report.

An increased demand for service from practically all walks of life requires an extension of facilities in order to serve properly those who look to the public employment service to direct them to where they may obtain employment. East state should constitute a unit in conducting public employment service and the federal government should share a part of the responsibility and burden of conducting such offices, the labor secretary declares.

McNICHOLAS GIVES PHYSICAL EXAMS TO BOYS OF Y. M. C. A.

Examination of boys expecting to enter fall classes of the local Y. M. C. A. was commenced on Saturday under the direction of Henry T. Mac-

Nicholas, acting physical director. Examinations will be given by Y directors up until October 1, when classes open.

It is requested that all boys intending to commence gymnasium work take their exams at once so that class work will not be hampered once they are started. Fourteen boys took the test Saturday.

STATE FRESHMEN TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 9.—State college will be photographed during Freshman Week starting September 19. This is a custom at Penn State, and the resulting small prints are pasted to each student's record card. This year the athletic association is adopting the "mugshot" idea and will photograph students of all classes, placing a print on the individual's pass card to all home athletic contests.

"~ and our foods must be as fresh as it is humanly possible for us to make them."

... From the letter to A&P store managers which follows.

TO A&P STORE MANAGERS

Gentlemen:—

No business as large and significant as ours can stand still. It must move ahead. And ours does. We are repeatedly making changes and refinements. Recently it was the development of our large market stores which are being established in every community. Now we are ready to inaugurate still another refinement—the most important in years—the speedy, Time-Controlled Supply of perishable foods which will definitely insure their freshness.

This new Time-Control Plan becomes effective this week. Months have been spent by your General Superintendent and Field Supervisors in perfecting the details. And now, to crystallize the plan, it needs only your support. CONTROLLED FRESHNESS best describes the objective of our new plan. That's the idea you will want to impress upon your patrons. That's the value of the plan to them. You can see at once what it means to them in their purchase of those foods whose wholesomeness and flavor depend upon freshness!

It means that the hours and even the minutes from the time these foods are produced until they reach your store will be frequently checked and held to a minimum. It means speedy delivery of perishable foods to your stores to insure their food value and flavor. It means bread, butter, bacon, eggs, coffee, cheese, fruits, vegetables, etc., will be sold day after day, uniform in quality and consistently fresh. You might even tell your patrons that the new Time-Control Plan is "food insurance." It is, in more ways than one. It is our promise to our patrons that A&P foods will hold the freshness that means so much to their quality.

The plan itself, however, and all of the hard work that created it can quickly become useless without your support. It requires and demands your cooperation to succeed—and you can do your part in two ways: First, by placing orders at frequent intervals; second, by making sure that none of your patrons receives a single article that fails to maintain the high standard of freshness which our new Time-Control Plan makes possible and demands.

A&P advertising, during the coming weeks, will tell our patrons of the freshness, flavor and wholesome goodness of A&P delicacies, and of this new Time-Control Plan. It is our earnest request that every man and woman in our organization help to make these ideals a reality, this new plan a marked success. Our foods must be as fresh as it is humanly possible for us to make them!

Sincerely,

East Side Man Believes Alligator Train Crew Saw Is Pet He Brought North

Those five members of a B. R. & P. railroad crew who saw an alligator enjoying itself in the swamp near Cement dam, below the plant of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, last Friday afternoon, were neither seeing things nor suffering from any strange hallucinations that day. Their statement is well substantiated.

Shortly after Saturday's News had reached the home of Francis L. Wimer of 815 Hazel street, the latter espied the story of the alligator. Wimer was amazed and he had reason to be for undoubtedly the reptile seen was his.

Wimer called The News just as soon as he could and reported why he thought it was his. Said he: "When I returned from Florida last February I brought back a black alligator with me. I had spent the winter there and during that time came upon a fisherman who had caught the alligator and wanted to sell it. So I bought it."

It was a freezing day when we reached the north while returning and since I had the gator in a crate where it was impossible for him to exercise much it was but fortunate

K. Gardner, of this city, has found a use for a deserted lumber and tannery town in this section. Mrs. Gardner has purchased the entire town of Instanton, Pa., twenty miles from here and presented it to the Ridgway Y. M. C. A. for use as a summer camp. The town was vacated a few years ago when its tannery, the only remaining industry, was sold and torn down.

The old mill pond has been altered and made into a swimming pool for the 150 boys and 68 girls who camped there this summer. School buildings have been converted into dormitories, officers' quarters and a model kitchen. Victory Parkerson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and a corps of workers, have made many improvements and have effected the transformation of a neglected and abandoned town into ideal camping spot.

Sabbath School Workers To Meet

The opening fall meeting of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will be held Thursday evening, September 12 at 6:30 p. m. daylight savings time, with a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. dining room. This will be a combined executive committee meeting and State Convention promotion meeting, and the speaker will be the Staff Representative H. C. O'Connell, who will bring a message of the great Sabbath School gathering to be held at Williamsport, October 9, 10 and 11.

Return reservation cards have been mailed to the country and district officers, Sabbath School superintendents and as many who attended last year's convention at Philadelphia whose names were on record. Any who are contemplating attending the convention at Williamsport this year and wish to attend Thursday's dinner, can call either the County President, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., or the County Secretary, Mrs. William J. Marshall, and reservation will be made. This should be done not later than Wednesday.

Lawrence County has been assigned a quota of fifty credentials and there will be little difficulty in using these and it may be necessary to write for an additional number.

The speakers and specialists who make up the program are all outstanding religious leaders of national reputation one of whom is Dr. Henry E. Trille of New York city, who delivered a large audience at the County Convention at New Wilmington and filled the pulpit at the First Baptist church one of the Sundays of last month during the absence of the pastor, Rev. G. M. Landis, who was on his vacation.

Mickey Walker Under Arrest

World's Middleweight Champion Involved In Brawl In Hollywood California

(International News Service) LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight boxing champion, was placed under arrest here today when police were called to a Hollywood apartment to quell an alleged drinking party that had broken up in a fight. A young woman, tenant of the apartment, had suffered a broken foot.

Three men were held with Walker on suspicion of drunkenness, disturbing the peace and violation of the California liquor possession act.

Meet Tonight To Consider Plan To Honor Gen. Pulaski

From the tentative arrangements for the observance of the death of Count Casimir Pulaski, Polish hero who gave his life for the American colonists cause, it would seem that the occasion will be one of considerable size and broad interest.

Announcement was made today that a meeting would be held in S. S. Philip and James Church this evening at 8:00 o'clock, with many church organizations represented, to discuss plans for the observance which will be held on Sunday, October 13.

The following organizations are asked to have representation at the meeting tonight: Madonna Church, Rosary Society, Church Choir, Polish R. C. Union, Falcon Nest, 145, Polish Alliance of Women, Citizens White Eagle Club, Casimir Pulaski Polish Club, St. Michaels P. N. A. Benefit Society, Lodge 1237, and Lodge 1077, S. S. Philip and James Filaret Lodge, Choir, Polish R. C. Union, lodge 468, and Benefit Society, Rosary Society, Polish Veterans and United Societies.

On Friday evening, September 13, another meeting is scheduled by other groups to further plans for the observance of the death of Count Pulaski.

The Strouss-Hirshberg Co. A New Castle institution!

THIS new store will be entrusted to the guidance of able executives imbued with the Strouss-Hirshberg idea of service, with Strouss-Hirshberg methods, and with Strouss-Hirshberg enthusiasm.

¶ Their homes are in New Castle. They are eager to give effort and support to every forward looking activity of New Castle.

¶ The New Castle Strouss-Hirshberg store will bring new shopping delights and thrills to you, new comforts and new conveniences.

¶ It will not be just another depot for dispensing merchandise. It will be an INSTITUTION dedicated to the purpose of forever doing what it can to add to the growth, prosperity and good will of New Castle.

¶ Strouss-Hirshberg's of Youngstown is quoted as a criterion of service, in retail circles. It is a genuine HELPFUL service such as few stores have been able to develop.

¶ It is our purpose to make the New Castle store equally noted for friendliness, cheeriness, helpfulness and service.

Watch for the Opening Date

This is the fifth of a series of announcements leading up to the opening of New Castle's Strouss-Hirshberg Store.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The doctors have discovered that "a comparatively normal human body provided with adequate food and rest may acquire during prolonged exercise unusual capacity for work apparently without serious untoward effect."

Old John L. Sullivan knew that, and no one ever told him. He used to train for his fights on large quantities of corned beef, sausage and beer consumed at any hour of that day or night he felt so inclined.

On one occasion a couple of days before a major bout, his trainer suggested that his principal do a little road work. Mr. Sullivan became so incensed at the mere suggestion that he picked up an empty beer bottle and chased the manager for a mile and a half.

ALAS, ALACK!

One landmark after another in New York is being razed to make way for business structures. After awhile the oldest things in town will be the faces of the young men.

The latest victim of the fugacious years and the junk man is the old Fifth Avenue theater at Broadway and 28th street. This relic of a simpler day isn't large enough as a theater for modern demands and is far off the Media Trail.

Its 56 years of existence are interwoven with glorious history. A complete list of contemporary stage celebrities, compared with the roster of "trouper" whose cadences once resounded through the decrepit playhouse, dwindles in comparison as a mouse's squeak to the music of the spheres.

Augustine Daly opened the Fifth Avenue theater in 1873 several years prior to the birth of some of the oldest commentators on the stage. Even George Jean Nathan hadn't yet been born.

The premier performance was a play called "Fortune" and the star was Fannie Davidson, then the toast of the town. Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote an opening address which was read from the stage by a golden-haired ingenue named Fanny Morant. And which of us ever heard of her?

Later Sir Arthur Sullivan waved his baton there and when "The Mikado" had its initial American showing and in one of the successes, "The Big Bonanza" the name of John Drew appeared on the program near the end of the cast.

There, Eddie Booth offered his kingdom for a horse. Three Maurice Baymore trouped, Mrs. G. H. Gilbert, Clara Morris, Modjeska, Robert Mantell, Minnie Seligman, Rosa Coughlin, J. E. Dodson, Pauline Hall, Duse, Dion Boucicault, Freddie de Belleville and Joe Jefferson.

The "For Sale" sign draped today on the front of the old playhouse graphically rehearses its sole claim to modern attention.

It contains 11,000 square feet.

HOLLYWOOD.

Kidding Hollywood is rated just now as a rank of intellectual sophistication.

P. J. McEvoy—or is it J. P?—eminent writer of Christmas card verses and author of "Show Girl," "The Pottery," etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc.—a prolific chap, you'll admit—just got back from Hollywood and as Jack Francis would say, he is "Bliss! Very Bliss!"

"It had a nightmare, the other night means McEvoy. I woke up screaming. I dreamed I had signed a three-year contract to work in Hollywood—and there was two years and eleven months yet to run!"

In the last analysis the alchemy of Hollywood consists in transmitting the lead of mediocrity into shining shelves of golden dividends. That being the work in hand let's all be fair and admit: The Boys are reasonably successful at it.

But just that what right has a man who once made a living "dumbing up" Christmas cards got to criticize anybody or anything?

P. J. McEvoy tossing raspberries at Hollywood is like Eddie Guest making faces at Bill Shakespeare.

TOUGH YOU BET.

One of the toughest jobs on earth is that of the Litter Feller who has to go through life trying to stretch a foot and a half of Ability to cover a yard of Reputation.

Miss Trumbull's Gown Is Parisian

Created For Her By Patou For Wedding To John Coolidge September 23

PLAINVILLE, Conn., Sept. 9.—The wedding gown to be worn by Miss Florence Trumbull when she marries John Coolidge Sept. 23, was created especially for her by Patou in Paris. It is of ivory satin in princess style, with close fitting bodice and rather deep boat neck.

The skirt falls in four panels, with two long panels in the back forming the train.

The bride will wear a tulle veil, taking from a cup of duchesse lace, with a lace panel dropping to the end of the train. Orange blossoms will be clustered in the tulle. She will carry a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Jean Trumbull, who will be her sister's maid of honor, will wear a peach chiffon gown with straight bodice, and four-paneled skirt, the two panels in back being very long. A large Hertha collar of semi lace embroidered in gold thread, flushes the neck of the gown.

The four bridesmaids, Miss Esther Trumbull, Miss Dorothy Clark, Miss Virginia Rogers and Mrs. Philip Morehouse, will wear models designed for them also by Patou. They are in two shades of yellow and follow the lines of the bride's dress.

Approximately 400 invitations have been sent out for the reception which is to follow the wedding.

The ceremony is to take place in the Plainville Congregational church. For this, the guests will be confined to members of both families and a very small number of friends.

Guests at the reception will include many prominent men and women.

New Wilmington Man Secures Two Contracts

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 9.—Butler county commissioners awarded the contracts for two bridges in Butler township. Victor C. Minter of New Wilmington will erect the Bevard bridge at a cost of $21,000 and the Enslin bridge at his bid of $35,000. The structures will be of steel and concrete.

GELATINE SALADS

All left over fresh fruits and vegetables can be used to advantage if you put them immediately into a gelatine salad. Chill and serve at the next meal. Even berries are excellent in salad.

Florence Leeds Reported Wedded

Chorus Beauty Who Figured in Stillman Divorce Case Marries in England

(International News Service) LONDON, Sept. 9.—Florence Leeds, former New York Century Roof chorus beauty, and "the other woman" in the James A. Stillman divorce case, has been married here to John Rousseau Metcalfe, it was learned this afternoon.

The marriage took place at the Prince's Row registry office on August 22.

There is much mystery as to the identity of the groom. He was described in the official papers as "a company director."

Ice Cream Company Safe Is Robbed

Controversy Rages In Pittsburgh Over "Fraudulent Voters"

Mayor Kline And Judge Richard Martin, Candidates Are Drawn Into Controversy

Demand Grand Jury Investigation Of Charges Hurdled By Malone Group Last Week

By C. B. YORKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Attorneys and principals in the "fraudulent assessment" episode in connection with Pittsburgh's three-cornered fight for the Republican mayoralty nomination today prepared to appear before District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and demand a grand jury investigation of the charges which were made public Friday.

While the mayoralty fight has been characterized by much personal criticism among the candidates themselves, the climax of the fight came when headquarters of Councilman James F. Malone announced last Friday that hundreds of persons had been registered and assessed illegally. The charges also stated that in many instances fictitious names were used in duplicate assessments and that vacant lots, sections of the Monongahela river wharf and empty buildings had been listed as the addresses of persons listed contrary to the provisions of the election laws.

Kline-Martin "In"
Over the week-end Mayor Charles H. Kline and Judge Richard W. Martin were brought into the controversy that followed the announcement from Malone headquarters.

Malone, Kline and Martin are seeking the nomination for mayor on the Republican ticket in the primary election of September 17.

While the principals in the fight have each denied vigorously that they are responsible for the illegal registration of alleged phantom voters, workers on all sides elaborated the charges. At the insistence of Judge Martin's supporters, District Attorney Gardner agreed to institute a grand jury probe into the allegations.

Delegations from the three camps were prepared today to meet with Gardner at 11 o'clock this morning. At the same time the county commissioners are expected to hold a special meeting to institute a separate investigation.

It is believed that when the delegations meet with Gardner that evidence will be produced seeking to show that the alleged irregularities made public by the Malone forces constitute but a small part of those already committed. It is upon this point that the strongest plea for a grand jury probe will be based.

Right Of Widow To Share In Estate Of B. L. Dick Is Denied

Claimed That She Made Prenuptial Agreement And Deserted Her Husband

When B. L. Dick and Herma G. Mayne were married in May, 1924, it is claimed that there was a prenuptial agreement, under which neither was to claim anything from the estate of the other, in case of death of one of them. Mr. Dick died leaving a will in which Newton C. Dick and Harper H. Dick were named as executors. Despite the alleged agreement Mrs. Dick filed to take against the will under the interstate laws, and also for the $500 widow's exemption.

In a petition presented by the executors to court this morning they ask that this election of the widow be set aside. In their petition they say that Mrs. Dick and her husband separated in June 1925. It is claimed by the executors that according to the prenuptial agreement Mrs. Dick is not entitled to any sum. It is also set forth that she deserted her husband. They asked for a citation on Mrs. Dick to show cause why their petition should not be granted. The citation, returnable on the first Monday of October, was awarded.

First Operation In New Hospital

Park Avenue Man Is First To Undergo Operation In New Hospital

While the first baby born in the Jameson Memorial hospital was not a New Castle youngster, the first operation performed in the hospital was that of a New Castle man, Harry Book of Park avenue, who was operated upon this morning at 9 o'clock for appendicitis.

The surgeons in the case were Dr. Lloyd W. Wilson and Dr. W. D. Cleveland, with Miss Mary Bryan as his nurse. The operation was successful, and the surgeons found a wide difference between the equipment of the old Shenango Valley hospital and the splendid equipment of the Jameson Memorial.

Last Baby Born In Old Hospital Is Linesville Boy

Much interest is being shown at the present time over the "firsts" at the Jameson Memorial hospital. The first baby, the first patient, the first operation, all of them are getting attention, but little has been said of the "lasts" at the Shenango Valley hospital.

To the youngest physician of the city, Dr. Paul Wilson, fell the distinction of delivering the last baby in the old hospital, the child being born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Good of Linesville, Pa. The last baby of the Shenango Valley is a boy, a husky young man, and has been named James Robert Good. He was born on Tuesday, September 3.

Some day perhaps he can visit Miss Lois Pate, the first youngster born in the Jameson Memorial hospital and debate the relative merits of their distinction.

Local Pennsy R. R. Athletes Place

Patton was second in the hop-skip-step-jump and Bill Patton was fourth in the 12-14 year old boys' 50-yard race.

George Schmidt was high gun in the trapshoot with 49 of 50. In the team George Schmidt, and F. W. Dennison won 49 of 50. The Lake division team which was comprised of Stone, Wilkison, Fisher, Shepard, C. J. Schmidt, G. W. Schmidt, Gillespie and Harmer.

Fleming and Felt landed second in the horseshoe doubles.

Theatre Safe Is Looted By Thugs

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Gaining entrance by forcing a door in the rear, thieves today robbed the office of the Arcadia theatre of $230 in cash. Peter Kalaba, assistant manager of the theatre, with two employees made the discovery. A towel-wrapped hammer was found near the looted safe.

MONKEY CHASE IN FIRST WARD

Animal Escapes From Pet Shop And Makes Tour Of Ward

There was more than the usual excitement in the West Washington street district in the vicinity of the Y. M. C. A. about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when a white-faced ring-tailed monkey, less than two months from his native haunts in the wilds of Brazil, escaped from the pet shop nearby and started on a jaunt through the first ward.

During the absence of B. J. Cohen, owner, and while his assistant was busy elsewhere, two boys had sneaked into the place and opened the door of the front window allowing the monkey his freedom.

The monkey, the least afraid, started forth going to Beaver street, over Beaver street to Sycamore way, over Sycamore way to North Norris way and then to Shenango street and finally into the garage of Tony Natale.

The monkey was not alone all this time. Officer James Wysner, guardian of the peace in the first ward district, was in close pursuit, accompanied by many others and it was in this way that it was determined where the little monkey was hiding.

The fact that it was in the garage did not make the recapture easy. Although but a short time from the jungles and not accustomed to civilization, this monkey showed real cunning and scampered about under the cars, causing those seeking his capture to crawl under the cars, under one of which he was finally apprehended and returned to the pet shop.

This is more excitement than has occurred in the first ward since Officer Wysner assumed control in that district and will not soon be forgotten.

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Wood and son John, East Moody avenue, have left for a 10-day motor trip to Clifton Springs, N. Y., where they will be guests of Dr. Lichty and family.

Critical Stage Is Reached In Naval Accord

President Hoover And Admirals Of Naval Board Displeased By British Offer

OBJECTIONS GO FORWARD SOON

Actual Figures Proposed By British Are Withheld; Tonnage Limitation Suggested

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A critical stage has been reached in the naval negotiations with Great Britain. The latest British offer in the cruiser controversy is unsatisfactory, both to President Hoover and to the admirals of the navy general board, which have been studying it for a week. Mr. Hoover doesn't like it because the tonnage limitation proposed would still necessitate completion of the 15-cruiser program which he had hoped to avoid. The admirals don't like it because it would still leave the British navy preponderant in gross tonnage as well as number of ships.

Will Send Note
This week will see the American objections go forward to London. If, indeed, they have not already been communicated to Ambassador Davies. The State Department doesn't say whether a note has actually been dispatched. If it hasn't it is only a matter of a short time until it is.

Although the actual figures proposed by the British are withheld, it is understood that the tonnage limitation of approximately 350,000 tons has been suggested. Britain now has built, building and authorized some 407,000 tons of cruisers, embraced in 64 units. The reduction would be accomplished by not replacing 10 old light cruisers of 3,750 tons each, which will be ready for the scrap pile in 1935, and by the sacrifice of 23,000 tons of cruisers that exist only in blueprints. Below this figure the British admiralty has refused to go. It is understood here. It represents what the admiralty considers the "irreducible minimum" requested for the empire safety, and the British willingness to go that far is contingent upon an understanding with the United States concerning the type of the 10,000-ton, eight-inch cruisers which the American navy experts consider so necessary to the American needs.

Strength Compared
The difficulties of the situation become immediately apparent when America's present and authorized building strength in cruisers is ranged alongside the British figures. As compared to the British suggestion of 350,000 tons, the American navy now has built and building 155,000 tons of modern cruisers. Congress last year ordered the immediate construction of 15 units of 10,000 tons each, or 150,000 tons. Thus even the completion of this program—which President Hoover has been working to avoid—the American navy would still be some 45,000 tons short of what Britain considers her irreducible minimum.

But this British figure of 350,000 tons is also contingent upon an agreement severely limiting the 10,000-ton eight-inch gun class of ships, which the American navy experts insist is the type best suited for American needs because of the long distances between naval bases and coaling stations. Great Britain has only 15 cruisers mounting eight-inch guns. Her admirals consider the smaller type of ship more adaptable to British needs. Upon completion of the present building program the American navy will have 23 of the eight-inch type. The British think that this will give the American navy too much combatant superiority over the smaller cruisers, and it is understood they have proposed to allow the United States only 18 ships of the eight-inch class, as compared to their own 15. The 50,000 tons so saved would have to be devoted to the smaller type of vessel which the American experts don't want.

Thus the experts have warred and argued. But the important point to President Hoover apparently is that no plan whatever has yet been devised which will stop the completion of the 15-cruiser program. That program is going to cost approximately $260,000,000—a not inconsiderable item in the administration's financial plans.

SEEK REASON FOR CRASH OF PLANE IN NEW MEXICO

after the wreckage had been located by an airplane. A group of aviation experts from the Department of Commerce will search the ruins minutely, endeavoring to determine officially just what caused the tragedy. Meanwhile the relatives of the eight occupants of the ill-fated air liner were endeavoring today to identify the charred and broken bodies which were brought here at 9 o'clock last night on stretchers and pack-mules.

Death By Accident
Death by accident was the verdict given last night by a coroner's jury after reviewing the remains of the eight victims. The jury was unpaneled and witnesses examined under the direction of District Attorney Nicholas of Valencia county shortly after the bodies were brought in. The formal verdict of death by accident was returned after brief deliberation. Sheriff Bob Roberts of McKinley county took charge of the bodies and made arrangements for the inquest.

The crash occurred in one of the most inaccessible places in the southwest. The wreckage was strewn in the midst of heavy timber and brush far up the steep slope of Mount Taylor, a mountain that stands alone among the lower hills.

Crashed Into Tree
Following its regular route from Albuquerque, N. M., to Los Angeles, the plane first crashed into a large tree sixty-seven feet above the ground according to members of the party who reached the plane.

The left motor struck the tree first, cutting off the plane's left wing. Further on a second tree was sheared off by the impact of another motor striking it. Pieces of the shattered fuselage of the air liner had motors strewn the ground.

The gasoline tanks then caught fire, explosions throwing blazing fuel over passengers and crew, according to rescue party members. Trees for yards about were scorched by the heat of the intense flames. The bodies were huddled in positions that showed they anticipated the crash. All three of the crew members had thrown their arms about their faces to protect themselves from the impact. Further back in the plane the passengers huddled in a protecting group.

Passengers Listed
The bodies of the victims, although they could not be positively identified, were those of: Beers, William Henry, New York, golf magazine editor; Campbell, N. M., Cincinnati salesman; Livermore, William, Boston shipping owner; McGaffey, Amasa B., Albuquerque, N. M., lumberman; Raymond, Mrs. Corina, Glendale, Cal.; Canfield, C. F., New York, courier of the plane; Dietel, Edwin A., co-pilot, of New Braunfels, Tex.; Stone, J. B., chief pilot, of Clovis, N. M.

Flinding of the City of San Francisco had ended one of the most spectacular hunts the West has known. Scores of airplanes, assembled from hundreds of miles about, were leaving the scene for home airports today.

Hundreds of volunteers, assembled to help in the search, have crowded the small towns to capacity. Emergency sleeping quarters had been provided. Telegraph companies have installed extra wires to handle the flood of communications sent out by the army of press correspondents.

For that matter, there is bribery and official corruption in the enforcement of the law against stealing. The young people aren't as quiet as they were in your day, eh? Well, would you care to be as quiet as the old people were then?

Admit Shearer Talked On Radio For Bigger Navy

National Security League Admits William B. Shearer Talked On Enlarging Navy

NAVAL OFFICERS ARE ASSOCIATED

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The National Security League, organized for stimulating interest in greater national defense, today admitted that William B. Shearer, propagandist, had made talks for a bigger navy over the radio in his behalf, but denied any knowledge of Shearer's claim that naval intelligence data had been supplied him in his activity to prevent naval reduction or that four rear-admirals had backed him in his work.

"Shearer did make radio talks for the league," said J. W. Fiedermann, executive secretary for the defense organization. "However he was not paid for this work nor are any of our speakers. This is as far as Shearer's connection went with the league. We have no knowledge as to his assertion that navy officials, active and retired supported him in his activities or that data was supplied him by the navy department."

A number of high American naval officials have been associated directly or indirectly with the campaign of the National Security League.

Flying Tackle Fails To Halt Flight Of Auto

William McCoshy of the Butler road had an unusual and rather interesting experience this morning when his automobile, which fortunately resulted in no serious injury to himself and very slight damage to his machine.

He had his car parked near the top of Long avenue hill, when the brakes let go and the machine started down the hill of its own volition. The owner ran and managed to jump into the machine in the first block of its mad flight and made an effort to get it stopped. As he was doing so, and near a point at the intersection of Arlington avenue with Long avenue, the machine just missed a telephone pole in running up over the sidewalk and into an embankment. Mr. McCoshy was thrown up on the lawn at the top of the embankment, sustaining a minor injury as the machine continued on its mad flight, going out into the street again and continuing on down the hill did not stop.

It finally came to a stop against the cement wall in front of the Jenkins property at the bottom of the hill and was found on examination to be all right with the exception of a punctured tire.

Police Hear Of Several Accidents

Several Cars Are Damaged In The Cases Reported To Them

George A. Jones of 713 Reynolds street, reported Sunday that he was going south on Greenwood avenue and making a left hand turn onto West Washington street, having stopped for main thoroughfare sign, then started onto Washington street and reached the south bound street car track, when two machines came east on the street. One passed his car, but the other Pennsylvania license 965-089 tried to pass between his machine and the other car and hit and damaged his car considerably. The hit did not stop.

Darlene Leopardo of Wampum, reported Sunday that he was enroute south on South Mill street near Phillips street, as a car bearing Pennsylvania license C83-322 was going east on Phillips street and making a right hand turn onto Mill street. Mr. Leopardo was following a street car and the other automobile came out of Phillips street and damaged his machine to some extent.

Frank D'Caprio of 11 West Cherry street, reported Sunday that he was enroute south on Moravia street, when his car hit a machine bearing Pennsylvania license D13-983, which was parked in the middle of the street. Some damage was done.

Two Girls Drown By Lake Undertow

Lake Erie Undertow Claims Lives Of Two Young Girls At State Peninsula Park

(International News Service) Erie, Pa., Sept. 8.—When Olive Backus, 16, was taken away from the shore of Lake Erie here by a strong undertow near the lighthouse on the State Peninsula Park Bathing Beach, and her companion, Cecellia Owens, 22, were drowned before help could reach them. Both bodies were washed ashore three hours later. Miss Owens, the daughter of the Lighthouse keeper, was an excellent swimmer and had spent the summer with her parents on the Peninsula. Miss Backus was from Erie.

Missionary Is Rotary Speaker

Rev. Glenn P. Reed, Westminster Man, Speaks On The Sudan

Rev. Glenn P. Reed, a member of the American mission of the United Presbyterian church in the Sudan, was Monday's speaker at the regular weekly luncheon-meeting of the New Castle Rotary Club. In a most eloquent and informing manner he told of British control in Egypt, of native life where he serves the U. P. church and of the general conditions that now prevail in the one-time desolated land.

Among other things, Rev. Reed pointed out that never with British leave Egypt, at least that is the prevailing belief. The reasons for this, he said, are innumerable but among them is the fact that Britain must protect the Suez canal.

His address from beginning to end was highly enlightening to every listener. Rev. Reed was graduated from Westminster college in the class of 1904 as first honor man. He has been located in the Sudan ever since leaving seminary.

Dr. S. A. Bowman Dies In Oregon

Former Well Known Local Dentist Passes Away After Short Illness

Dr. Samuel A. Bowman, aged 70 years, a former well known resident of New Castle, died suddenly in Salem, Ore., Sunday afternoon, according to word received by relatives here. Dr. Bowman had been a resident of New Castle all his life until his removal to Salem, Ore., 14 years ago. He had been a practicing dentist here for a great many years.

No details were received except that his death occurred after but a brief illness, and that funeral services and burial will take place in Salem.

He is survived by two children, Claude Bowman of New Castle, and Mrs. John Wallace Harrison of Salem, with whom he made his home. He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Ella Abbott Carpenter of Leasure avenue, this city; Miss Sarah Bowman and Mrs. E. A. Madden of Sharon. There are also a number of nieces and nephews residing in New Castle.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald has been re-elected to the golf club that expelled him in 1928. That's quite a long time getting out of the rough—The Munster Morning Star.

Heads "Hootch" Unit

William J. Calhoun, Deputy Dry Commissioner, has been sent from Washington to tackle the liquor situation in New Jersey. Anti-Saloon League officials recently called Newark the "wettest city in the United States."

Labor Commissioner

Miss Isabel Larwill, of Adrian, Mich., holds the position of state labor commissioner of her state. She is the second woman in the United States to receive such an appointment. Miss Frances Perkins, the first woman to hold such a position, and Miss Nellie Swartz, both of New York state, are the only other women to hold similar positions.

At that time, the new pastor, Rev. T. Williams of Bangor, Pa., will start as a minister of the First Congregational church. John D. Williams is a former resident of New Castle, living for many years on Long avenue and filling the office of foreman at the Sherango Tin Plate works, a member and one of the first deacons of the First Congregational church. He was here at the time when Rev. Jones was the pastor, who is back in Wales at this time.

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE PRESIDENT

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE

ARTICLE II

Foreign Approaches To President Are Made Through State Department

Calvin Coolidge

The Secretary of State is the agency through which the President exercises his constitutional authority to deal with foreign relations. As this subject is a matter of constant interchange, he makes no annual reports to the President on the whole conduct of their departments, which he transmits to the Congress. All the intercourse with foreign governments is carried on through the Secretary of State, and a national of a foreign country could not be received by the President unless the accredited diplomatic representative of his government made an appointment for him through the State Department.

All foreign approaches to the President are through this Department. When an Ambassador or Minister is to present his credentials, the Under-Secretary of State brings him to the White House and escorts him to the Green Room. After the President has taken his position, standing in the Blue Room accompanied by his aides, the diplomat is then brought before him. He presents his letters with a short formal statement, to which the President responds in kind. When the mutual expressions of friendly interests and good will have been exchanged, the accompanying staff of the diplomat is brought in for presentation, after which he retires. Except when foreign officials are presented for an audience in this way, the etiquette of the White House requires that those who are present should remain until the President and the Mistress of the White House retire from the room.

Social Functions Important

A competent man is assigned from the State Department to have the management of the White House official social functions. He has under him a considerable staff located in one of the basement rooms, known as the Social Bureau. They keep a careful list of all those who leave cards and of the officials who should be invited to receptions, which is constantly revised to meet changing conditions. While the President has supervision over all these functions, the most effective way to deal with them is to provide a capable Mistress of the White House. I have often been complimented on the choice which I made nearly twenty five years ago. These functions were so much in the hands of Mrs. Coolidge that sometimes I did not know what guests were to be present until I met them in the Blue Room just before going in to dinner.

These social functions are almost as much of the life of official Washington as a session of the Congress or a term of the Supreme Court. The season opens with the Cabinet dinner. Following this come the Diplomatic reception, the Diplomatic dinner, then the Judicial reception, the Supreme Court dinner, then the Congressional reception, and the Speaker's dinner, with the last reception of the year tendered to the Army and Navy. About fifty guests assemble at the dinners, except that given to the diplomats, when the presence of the Ambassadors or Ministers of each country represented in Washington, together with their wives, brings the number up to about ninety. The Marine Band is in attendance on all these occasions. Following the dinners a short musical recital by famous artists is given in the East Room to which many additional guests are invited.

A reception is a particularly colorful event. About 3,500 invitations are issued. When the guests are assembled, the President and his wife, preceded by his aides and followed by the Cabinet and his Secretary and their wives, go down the main staircase, pausing for a moment to receive the military salute of the band, and then pass to the Blue Room, where the receptions are always held. When the foreign diplomats are present in their official dress, the scene is very brilliant. After all the presentations have been made, the President and his retinue return to the second floor. Immediately after this there is dancing in the East Room to furnish entertainment while the long line of cars comes up to take the guests home.

Whenever the prominent officials of foreign governments visit Washington, it is customary to receive them at a luncheon or dinner at the White House. When the Prince of Wales was here in 1924, we were in mourning because of the loss of our son, so that he lunched with us informally without any other invited guests. When the Queen of Roumania came to Washington, she was entertained at dinner. There have also been Princesses of the reigning houses of Japan and of Sweden, the Premier of France, the Governor-General of Canada, the Presidents of the Irish Free State, of Cuba, and of Mexico, who have been received and entertained in the same manner. Whenever an official gathering of foreigners like the Panama Conference, convenes in Washington, the President and the Mistress of the White House tender them a reception and a dinner.

Besides these formal social gatherings there were various afternoon teas and musicales, which I sometimes neglected, and usually one or two garden parties held in the south grounds, one of which was for the disabled veterans who were patients in Washington hospitals. These were accompanied with band music and light refreshments, which always seemed to be appreciated by the veterans.

My personal social functions consisted of the White House breakfasts, which were attended by fifteen to twenty-five members of the House and Senate and others, who gathered around my table at eight o'clock in the morning to partake of a meal which ended with wheat cakes and Vermont maple syrup. During the last session of the Congress I invited all the members of the Senate, all the chairmen and ranking Democratic members of the committees of the House, and finally had breakfast with the officers of both houses of the Congress. Although we did not undertake to discuss matters of public business at these breakfasts, they were productive of a spirit of good fellowship, which was no doubt a helpful influence to the transaction of public business.

In addition to these White House events, the President and his wife go out to twelve official dinners. They begin with the Vice President, go on among the ten members of the Cabinet, and close with the Speaker of the House. Aside from these, it is not customary for the President to accept the hospitality of any individuals. This results not from any desire on his part to be exclusive, but rather from an application of the principle of equality. The number of days in his term of office is limited. If he gave up all the time when he is not otherwise necessarily engaged, it is doubtful if he could find fifty evenings in a year when he could accept invitations. At once he would be confronted with the necessity of deciding which to accept and which to reject. If he served eight years, he could touch only the fringe of official Washington, even if he chose to disregard all the rest of the country. The only escape from an otherwise impossible situation is to observe the rule of refusing all social invitations.

Rules Of Precedence Must Be Observed

The President stands at the head of all official and social rank in the nation. As he is Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy—all their officers are his subordinates. As he is the head of the Government, he outranks all other public officials. As the first citizen, he is placed at the top of the social scale. Wherever he goes, whenever he appears, he must be assigned the place of honor. It follows from this that he cannot consistently attend a dinner or any other function given by someone else in honor of any other person. He can have ceremonies of his own at the White House, or outside, in which he recognizes the merit of others and bestows upon them appropriate honors. But his participation in any other occasion of such a nature is confined to sending an appropriate message.

It would make great confusion in all White House relations unless the rules of precedence were observed. If this were not done, the most ambitious and intruding would seize the place of honor, or it would be bestowed by favor. In both cases all official position would be ignored. In its working out, therefore, the adoption of rules which take no account of persons, but simply apply to places, is the only method which is in harmony with our spirit of equality. In its application it gives us more completely a government of laws and not of men.

Mr. Coolidge will tell in his next article of the tremendous responsibility the President labors under.

Two Girls Drown In Lake Erie Sunday

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 8.—Olive Backway, 16, of Harbor Creek, and Cecelia Owens, 22, of Erie, who attempted to rescue the Backway girl, were drowned yesterday in Lake Erie at North Pier. Miss Owens was standing on the pier in her bathing suit when the Harbor Creek swimmer went down. She was seen to dive for the Backway girl and neither came up again.

It was believed that Miss Owens was pulled under by Miss Backway when the former tried to bring her to the surface. The lake was rough and it was several hours before the bodies were recovered. Miss Owens was a daughter of Patrick Owens, first assistant keeper of the Government Lighthouse at North Pier.

Snake Wraps Around Wheel Of Auto; Is Hurlled Into Car

Woman Passenger In Machine Faints As Huge Reptile Lands In Her Lap

(International News Service) SUNDAY, Pa., Sept. 8.—Exit the heckneyed fish story—here's the newest vogue, the reptilian yarn.

S. G. Roush of York, while driving over the Trevorton-Dornis road, saw a large blacksnake stretch out in the road, enjoying a sunbath.

He decided to run over it. The snake thought otherwise and curled itself around the spokes of the front wheel, unknown to Roush, who proceeded blithely on his way.

As the car rounded a sharp curve a few moments later, the snake was thrown from its resting place and landed in the lap of a woman occupant in the rear seat. She promptly fainted.

R. M. Unger, a mail carrier on the route between Shamokin and Herron, came along in time to aid in killing the snake.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE HUMAN FAMILY.

The human family is a large organization—or perhaps just a huge disorganized group. Take one spot where a particularly large lot of members of the human family have gathered together. In New York a child is born each four minutes. Nine million persons scramble daily for subway seats. Fourteen persons are married each hour. On the average for a year 23 new buildings are put up each day and six torn down. New Yorkers and their guests eat 7,000,000 eggs per day. And how the human family, struggling along in this small area, loves amusement. There are 800 theaters in New York.

SOUTHERN SOARING.

Watch New Orleans. A purification plant takes Mississippi water the color of mud and converts it into crystal clear fluid. The plant will have a capacity of 120,000,000 gallons per day. New Orleans has installed seven drainage pumps, the largest ever known and now has the largest pumping station in the world. New Orleans is converting a swamp, extending two miles along the shores of Lake Pontchartrain into a residential and recreation park, comprising over 3,000 acres. This is done by artificially raising the bottom of the lake to ten feet above sea level. The project will cost $41,000,000. Let northern cities —and southern cities also— watch New Orleans. Not only is the metropolis of the Gulf one of the most interesting cities in the United States but one of the most progressive.

CHARM OF CITIES.

As impressive as are the "operating figures" of great cities they are not more important than the indefinable charm that some cities hold. The visitor can detect charm as easily as he can prosperity and progressiveness. And the charm is more fascinating, more intriguing, more soothing to the soul. There are a few American cities that have "atmosphere" unattainable by the expenditure of money. They have a birthright that cannot be measured in the value of material riches. The charm of Charleston and the charm of Quebec cannot be added to or subtracted from by modern enterprises. These cities have enterprises plenty of it but fortunately the charm remains.

THE LIFE OF MAN.

One notes in a list of 100 best books the "Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin." Other autobiographies and biographies might well be included in any worthy list. Nothing more illuminating, educating, stimulating than the life story of a man or woman, honestly told. Out down on your time for detective fiction and bridge and add to your time for biography. One of the most honest, fascinating, enlightening is "Meet General Grant" by Woodward. Buy it if you can. Get it at the library if you do not care to buy. Learn two things from the book—a fair resume of the war between the states and a fair resume of average human nature.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

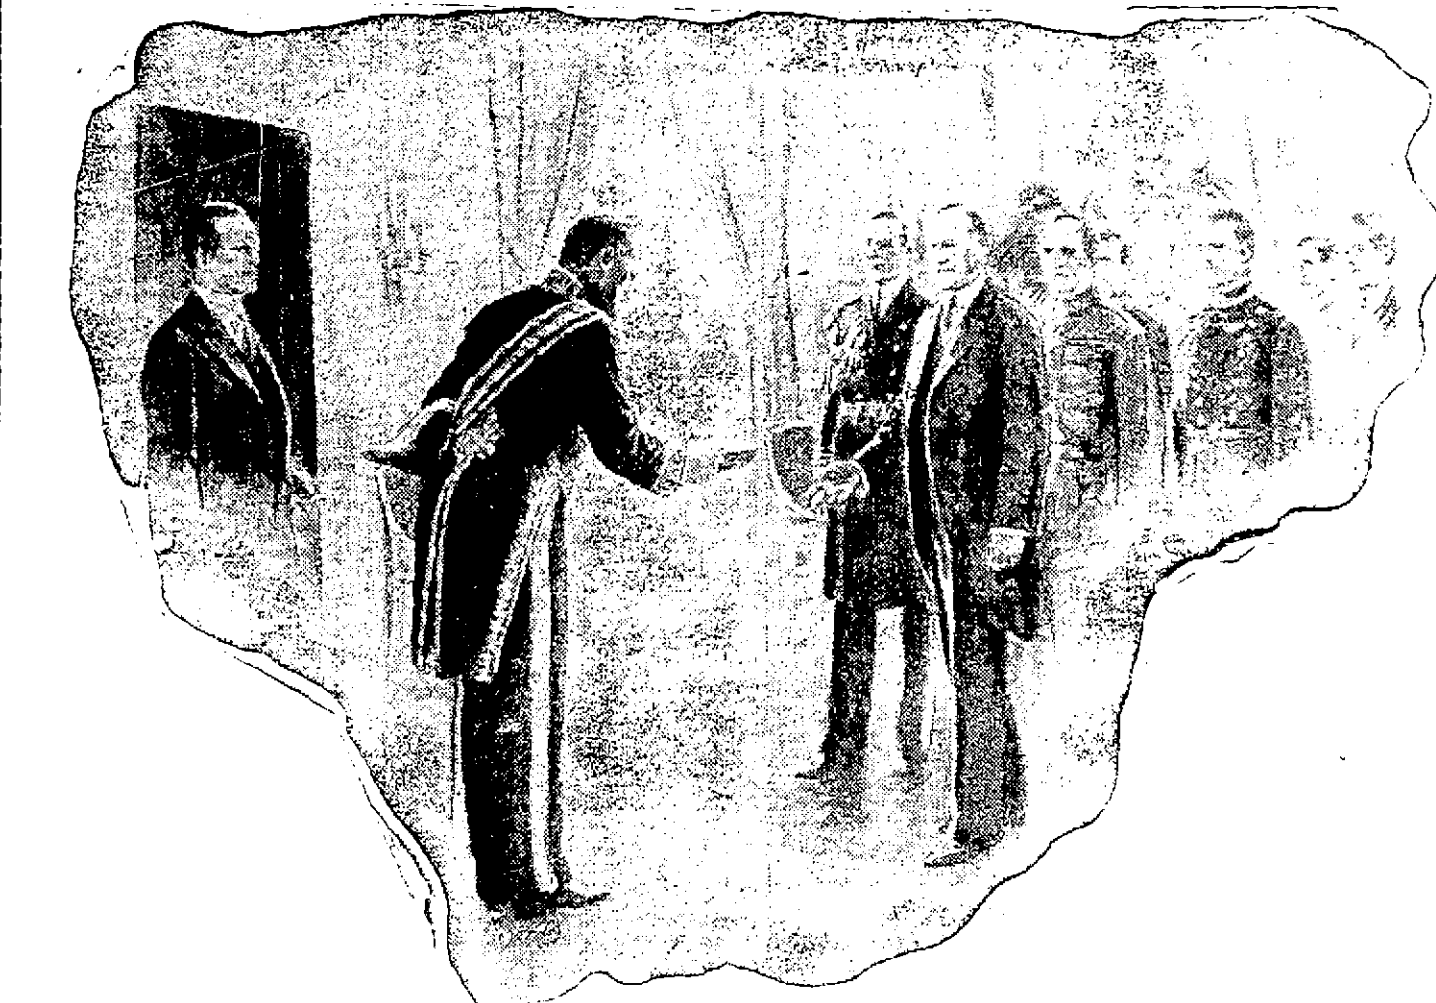

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

Ellwood High Gridders Preparing For Season

By TONY PASTA
(Special News Correspondent)
ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—According to Faculty Manager Shaffer, the schedule of the Ellwood City High School for the 1929 football season, will be as follows:
Sept. 28—Zelenople at home.
Oct. 5—Green City at home.
Oct. 12—Beaver Falls at home.
Oct. 19—Open.
Oct. 26—Altoona, away.
Nov. 2—Open.
Nov. 9—New Brighton, away.
Nov. 16—Rochester, away.
Nov. 23—Monaca, away.

There are two open dates due to the fact that Farrell and Greenville are not scheduled this year. Unless the open dates are filled Ellwood will play only seven games, the last three at home and the remainder away. This arrangement is practically in the same order as last year's. The fact that the first three foes will be met on the home lot will enable Ellwood to be prepared for the out of town battles.

Ellwood City got off to a good start last season with victories over Grove City and Zelenople and after losing to Altoona and New Brighton lost to Beaver Falls but copped the contests with Greenville and Farrell. This furnished a fairly good record of five victories, two deadlocks and two defeats.

Because of the extreme heat the drills in the last few days have been light ones but Lee is expecting to cut down his squad as soon as possible in order that he may devote more time to the first string. With only a few regulars left from last year's squad a number of positions must be replaced. There is no doubt that Justin and King will occupy berths in the backfield. These two lads seem to be in the best of condition and should be real ground gainers this year, for the Blue and White. It will pay the Valley eleven to keep an eye on this pair. Frank Gross, who showed promising value when he substituted in several games last season, is being tried at the quarter-back position and his chances look good.

Wilson, Pastin and Howe are also trying for backfield posts. In looking over the line we find that Rocco and Smilek are the only veterans from the last season but they will have the staunch support of Gerald Welsh who was unable to play last year. From all appearances it seems that Smilek and Welsh will be paired up for tackles while Rocco and Fred Wehman will occupy the guard berths. Bill McKim looks good for the center post and Barile and Sam Neft may be found at the wing positions.

U. P. CHURCH WEEKLY EVENTS

Reception To Be Tendered Tuesday Evening For The Smith Who Leave For Japan

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Program for the United Presbyterian church for this week.
The Berean Bible class will hold a corn roast and business meeting in the dining room of the church Monday evening at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to be present, and if possible bring a friend along.

On Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock the congregation will have a reception for Mr. and Mrs. Rev. John Smith, who will soon leave to take up work as missionaries in Japan. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Flo Bauder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bauder, Glen avenue, and was a member of this congregation. It is hoped that a goodly number will be on hand Tuesday evening to wish them God speed on their journey. Committees have been appointed to arrange for this meeting, and a fine program has been arranged.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. E. Munroe, who will give an exposition of next Sabbath's Bible school lesson.
The Hannah P. McDonald Bible Class will have a corn roast on Thursday evening at the North Sewickley Grange on the Beaver Falls road. Supper will be served at 7:00 o'clock. The choir will meet on Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made for a week's services to begin Monday evening, September 16th, to be conducted by Rev. John Heslop of Youngstown, Ohio. Rev. Heslop is an able and interesting speaker and his messages will be of real spiritual help.

On Thursday afternoon the Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Harris, on Park avenue.

Presbyterian Church Notes

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Events scheduled in the Presbyterian church this week include:

Because Helen Hayes, above, is going to have a baby, 10 New York actors are now out of work. Helen thinks impending motherhood is much more important than her contract as the star of "Coquette," as does her playwright husband, Charlie MacArthur. As a result the producer, declared he couldn't replace his star and members of the cast who had been signed for the coming season have found themselves out in the cold.

First Church Of God Starts Building

Contractor Will Begin Building Of New Edifice On The North Side Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—For some years the First Church of God of this city has been contemplating a new building. Recently it was announced that the plans would materialize early in the spring. But more recent plans have been perfected and the building will begin at once. Through the kindness of City Manager L. W. Monroe who loaned the shovel the basement has been excavated and the contractor is expected to arrive to begin work on the first story tomorrow. The site is opposite the North Side school building and for the present a roof will be placed on the basement floor of the proposed building. This work is expected to be finished in eight weeks.

Church events this week are Ladies Aid meeting on Thursday at the church.
Friday evening at 8 o'clock Young People's meeting with discussion on the subject "Who Made the World and How was it Made?"

As soon as the new church building is completed there will be a strong revival campaign with Rev. Marcel R. Desjardis of Round Lake, N. Y., as evangelist. Miss George and Miss Lewis of New Castle will be soloists.

DISTRICT COUNCIL
ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 9.—Members of the Young Peoples District Council will conduct a monthly meeting this evening in the Presbyterian church. Various matters of fall activities will come up at the meeting.

The Story Of The World War
109—Admiral Sims In London

ON THE EVE OF WAR WITH GERMANY THE UNITED STATES NAVY DEPARTMENT DEEMED IT NECESSARY TO HAVE AN AMERICAN ADMIRAL IN LONDON TO BE READY TO TAKE CHARGE OF OUR NAVAL AFFAIRS IN EUROPE WHEN WAR CAME. THE CHOICE OF A MAN FOR THIS IMPORTANT TASK FELL UPON ADMIRAL SIMS, AN OFFICER OF MARKED ABILITY AND WIDE EXPERIENCE.

LATE IN MARCH, 1917, ADMIRAL SIMS AND AN AIDE, DRESSED IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES AND APPEARING ON THE PASSENGER LIST UNDER ASSUMED NAMES, SECRETLY SAILED FOR ENGLAND. THE MERCHANT SHIP ON WHICH THEY WERE TRAVELING WAS ATTACKED AND DAMAGED BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE, AND THE TWO OFFICERS WERE OBLIGED TO TRANSFER TO ANOTHER VESSEL.

THE UNITED STATES ENTERED THE WAR ON APRIL 6, 1917. ARRIVING IN LONDON, SIMS CONFERRED WITH ADMIRAL JELlicoe, FIRST SEA LORD OF THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY, AND LEARNED THE FACTS OF THE APPALLING DESTRUCTION OF ALLIED AND NEUTRAL SHIPPING BY GERMAN SUBMARINES. JUST AT THAT TIME THE SINKINGS HAD REACHED THE RATE OF TEN SHIPS A WEEK FOR EVERY THREE NEW ONES THAT COULD BE BUILT.

ADMIRAL SIMS ESTABLISHED HIS HEAD-QUARTERS IN LONDON, FROM WHICH HE LATER DIRECTED THE OPERATIONS OF AMERICAN NAVAL FORCES IN EUROPEAN WATERS. APRIL 14 HE SENT A SECRET MESSAGE TO THE NAVY DEPARTMENT, STRONGLY URGING THAT EVERY AVAILABLE DESTROYER BE SENT IMMEDIATELY TO EUROPE TO COMBAT ENEMY U-BOATS.

TOMORROW—DESTROYERS SENT TO IRELAND.

CENTRAL CHURCH TEAM NEW CHAMPS

Deciding Game Taken Saturday

First M. E. Nine Defeated 1-0 In Classy Struggle At Centennial Field

HILL'S DOUBLE SPELLS VICTORY

Game Is Pitcher's Battle, Each Team Getting But Two Safe Swats

By CHARLES LANDOLF
One of the closest baseball games played in the New Castle Church League in years for the championship was enacted Saturday afternoon at Centennial field when the Central Presbyterian baseball team defeated the First M. E. aggregation and won the season's championship.

The score favored the Presbyterians at the end of seven innings of fast playing, 1-0. "Johnny" Hill, plucky pitcher for the winners, brought in the winning tally in the fourth when he doubled to deep right center, scoring Shoaff, who reached first on a walk and advanced on Fraser's sacrifice hit.

The game was the fourth and deciding contest in the play-off between the winners of the first and second halves of the Church League season this year. The Central team capped the first game, the second was a home score tie and the third was a victory for the First Methodists. This victory for the Central team gives that church the championship for the season, giving two victories against one defeat in the series.

The game was witnessed by a large crowd of adherents of both teams, and was about as classy a game as has been staged in this city in years. Both teams were on edge and played bang-up baseball from start to finish.

Pitchers Yield Two Bingles
Honkoren, on the rubber for the losers, and Sargeant for the Presbyterians, opposed each other and pitched one of the best games of their careers, each limiting their opponents to two scattered bingles. Each pitcher got out of some tight affairs during the game. Sargeant proved to be a cool-headed pitcher by stopping the losers in the third inning when the bases were full and one was down. The Methodists attempted a "squeeze" play by bunting the ball, but Sargeant calmly caught the ball and retired S. Lockley, the runner at the home plate. Hughes was an easy out, flying to Hearie in center.

This was the closest the Methodists came to scoring. The first three innings of play resembled big league playing, with neither team getting a hit, and play was fast. Up to the third chapter Honkoren fanned five Presbyterians and Hill looked like a no-hit, no-run game for the pitcher, who, up to the third inning, was baffling his opponents. Sargeant also was pitching just as effective ball during the three innings when no hits were recorded on the score book.

Decides Game
The fourth inning proved the chapter that decided the champions of the Church League. Hoskins started the inning by flying out to right field. A Shoaff was given a free ticket to the initial sack. Fraser, another old hand at the postume, advanced Shoaff on a sacrifice hit. The hit was perfect. Hill, next man up, won the championship for his church team by hammering out a hard smack to deep right, scoring Shoaff.

This caused an upsurge of cheers by the Presbyterian followers. Uhle ended the inning by striking out. The winners came near scoring another run in the sixth inning. Hoskins flied out to shortstop. Shoaff clubbed one of Honkoren's offerings to the right field wall. The hit was good for three sacks. Had Shoaff been a little faster the hit would have been good for a home run.

The new champs played snappy ball throughout the game and were deserving of victory. Hearie, in center field for the Presbyterians, played bang-up ball, catching four hard hit balls for outs. Patterson, in left, also made a great catch in the sixth inning, preventing the Methodists from scoring. E. Lockley slammed a bingle and advanced to second when Patterson headed the ball to the grass. McKnight was an easy out, flying to Uhle. Hughes, hard hitting Methodist, slammed a hard liner to left field and it looked like a hit, only to find Patterson making a good catch. He not only caught the ball, but made a double play, retiring the side. This was the nearest the losers came to deadlocking or winning the game after the third inning. The playing of Hearie A. Shoaff, accompanied by the splendid pitching of Sargeant, featured the new champs, while E. Lockley and Honkoren proved the best for the losers.

Umpires Bishop and Black officiated the game in a very pleasing manner. Following is a summary of the game:

Resume Play In Tennis Tourney

Second Day's Play In National Singles Title Matches Open

By MALCOLM ROY
International News Service Special Correspondent
FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 9.—Just exactly one half of the available crop of stars in the men's national singles lawn tennis championships will be in action here this afternoon in the second day's play of the tournament which was begun on Saturday.

Last winter when the tournament officials of the U. S. I. T. A. made up the new schedule which went into effect with this 48th championship series and provided for seven rounds of play instead of the usual six, they anticipated a complete entry list of 128 players; But the actual number of aspirants for the title relinquished by Henry Cochet, was only ninety.

Thus it became necessary to arrange no less than eighteen bye matches in the second round to permit the fourteen matches which still must be played by contenders who began in the first round to catch up with their more fortunate brethren who drew the byes. That play today will be limited to about one half the number of matches usually called for on the second day.

To make up the deficit and give the Monday gallery some sort of a run for its money, the first round in the veterans singles will get under way.

Kusic, Hernandez To Fight Tonight

Lightweights To Strive For Chance To Battle Paris Cangey; Local Flavor Given Fistic Show Attracts Fancy Of Fandom; Large Crowd Expected To Attend Jolly Bowl Battles; Five Battles To Keep Fans Thrilled.

By ED FRITZ

Johnny Kusic, Youngstown and Jack Hernandez, of Cuba will occupy the spotlight tonight at Jolly bowl where they are scheduled to meet in a 10 round bout. Hernandez furnished a spectacular surprise two weeks ago when he defeated Sammy Harris and a few nights previous Kusic knocked out Danny Lee in a West Virginia ring. A victory for either tonight will result in the winner meeting Paris Cangey, local lightweight.

Kusic's last appearance here resulted in a victory at the Old Armory. That was before he had cut his eye-teeth, pugilistically. Since then he has been gambolling around the country and has become one of the best lightweights in the tri-state section. Hernandez, formerly of Philadelphia travelled recently to Erie and when he fought Harris here he made an instantaneous hit.

Kusic Snapped Chances
In fact the fans who watched him outbox and outfight the clever Akron lightweight asked that he be matched with Cangey, which was done. A few days later Cangey turned up with a physician's certificate which read that Cangey would be in no condition to box Hernandez. The local kid boarded a train for New York City and has not returned. Kusic, anxious to show his ability against the boy who has beaten some of the country's best 135 pounders eagerly accepted the bout.

Solomon To Box
Mickie Solomon of this city will fight his second bout at the bowl tonight. He will battle Chuck Zeinack of McKeesport in a six round semi-final. The weight has been fixed at 158 pounds. Solomon claims that making weight has sapped his stamina but tonight he should be strong as an ox.

Martin To Box
Joe Midway, New Castle will get a chance to turn the tables on Nick Martin of Cleveland in the six round preliminary. Martin defeated Midway a year ago. He had a weight advantage but tonight he will come in at 160 pounds. Midway has been given plenty of work and he promises that he will show the fans some real punching and aggressiveness.

Two Four Rounders
Jackie King, Wampum and Jack Welsh, Sebring, O., lightweights will meet in one four round bout and the action in the other will be staged by Giuliano Aquaviva and Fritz Zingler.

The Danceland team hung a 2 to 1 defeat on Energy Saturday at the Energy field. C. Van Eman on the mound for the Danceland team allowed but five hits and fanned five men. Houk and Dean had the pitching duties for the Energy team.

The Danceland boys clubbed out enough hits to score two runs in the first inning, and were held scoreless afterwards. The Energy team could not solve Van Eman effectively and until the final half of the ninth inning, were held without a tally.

Both teams played errorless ball in the field. Pannell had the hitting honors with three safe ones, including two doubles. K. Van Eman also hit timely for the winners.

Grove City Team Stages Scrimmage

Coach Berry Cut Squad To Forty Men Following Severe Scrimmage Session

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Grimsen grid squad got its first taste of scrimmage here today when Coaches Berry and Moon lined up four teams for action in the afternoon session. The teams, using simple plays, were scrimmaged for two hours in an effort to get a line on the new players.

Several of the first year men showed promise but little can be said regarding whether they will be able to replace the old men or not. All further scrimmages are held this week. Linemen in particular showed future promise and it is believed that Berry will get a first string man or two out of the new squad.

Following the scrimmage here today the squad of 60 men was cut to some 40 odd players. It is likely that these men will be carried through the remainder of the training camp period. The program for this week will follow that of last week with two drills a day being slated for the grid. The session Monday morning consisted of tackling, blocking and handing the ball, according to Berry, who is determined to have the boys well grounded in these fundamentals.

"Wine, women and song" meant wickedness. The opposite, meaning the abstinence of wine, would be "water, men and silence."

New Castle Boys Showing Their Calibre In Scrimmage

By SEBASTIAN C. ISABELLA
Special Correspondent for The News-Bluff
BLUFF FIELD PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 9.—With the first game of the season only two weeks off. Head Coach Joe Bach placed the Duquesne University football squad through the initial scrimmage Saturday afternoon.

There were eight teams. The green material was landed the first dose. Some felt the edge of the ax, others will see their doom this week.

Head Coach Jayden and Coach Bach were well pleased with the showing of the New Castle boys. History repeated during the scrimmage when Bill "Sam" Howley, guard, and Glen Thomas, center, played against Nick DeCargio, guard, and George Mitchell tackle. These boys played against each other in a scrimmage while at Ben Franklin Junior high and New Castle High.

Earl Turk and Paul Fahy were not thrown into the fray. Ted Todd formerly of Youngstown and now of New Castle played an impressive game at the half-back position. Harold Harris also from New Castle played a nice game at the terminal position.

Duquesne University will have a tough schedule to deal with. Graduate Manager John D. Holahan has lined the best of the district. The first two games will be played on this field, Edinboro State college, September 21 and Slippery Rock State college the afternoon of the 28th. West Virginia University will be host at Morgantown October 5. Duquesne has been fortunate in getting Forbes field for five of the home games. This move has been commended very highly by the officials of the school and fans of the district. The games to be played at Forbes Field will be Albion college of Michigan, October 12, Loyola University of Chicago October 19.

George Trainor Wins Over Nunn In Golf Classic On Saturday

Back in the days when McGuffey's Reader was considered the big shot in educational circles, the permanent copy books provided some inspiring thoughts for the young. "If at first you don't succeed—where there's a will—there's a way," and the rest of those old classics, all of them tending to inculcate into the plastic mind that perseverance would pay big dividends.

George Trainor, one of the so-called younger set, recently had a big finger out of the golf glove, found it so on Saturday afternoon when he defeated that master shotmaker, William M. Nunn, for the honor of playing off the final championship round. The match ended on the 16th hole, with Trainor three up and two to play. Their final scores for the round were: Trainor 78; Nunn 79.

Third Time Charm
Twice before Trainor had breezed up to the final round, only to find Nunn waiting for him, and Trainor had to be content with the runner-up honors. Piling up runner-up honors has some appeal, of course, but to a dyed-in-the-wool golfer it isn't anything to be made a habit of.

To revert to the old copy book, "you can't keep a good man down," and again this year Trainor went through his opposition like a runner through a girl's boarding school, but instead of finding Nunn waiting for him at the final barrier, he found him waiting in the same bracket. Defeat meant elimination. Success meant almost a half Nelson on the championship.

Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen might have caused a little more interest on the course Saturday afternoon, but not much. For the New Castle golfers it was the settling of the annual feud, and as the two came into the 16th hole it looked like a convention of the unrighteous, there were so many there.

Not Such Hot Golf
From a golfer's viewpoint, the match didn't provide such hot golf. Both of them played some poor golf at times, and had either of them played the same golf in previous matches, some other pair would have been battling. The answer probably is that the strain of the match had them both on a tension, and if now and then they played like ordinary golfers, what of it?

They got off to a poor start, Nunn taking a six and Trainor a five, on number one, scores which sound like most any ordinary game. Nunn settled down on the second hole, getting a par three, with Trainor taking a four. On the long number three Trainor shot a birdie four, with Nunn playing it in orthodox fashion, paring it in five. So it went. On number four, with an easy putt waiting on him, Trainor blew it, giving Nunn the hole in par three and squaring the match that far. Encouraged by it, Nunn took the next two holes and, at the turn Nunn was two up, with the scores, Nunn 38; Trainor 40.

Number 10 was the beginning of the end. Nunn took a five and Trainor a four, and the youngster took four holes in a row. Nunn can go any day and play 11, 12 and 13 in par, but Saturday he took one over on each hole. Two down, and with Trainor getting better on every hole, was too much for Nunn to carry, and while he halved 14 and 15, he lost the 16th and the match was in the bag for Trainor.

Only four birdies were made in the entire match, Trainor getting two and Nunn two, one of them being on the 18th, after the match was settled. Any time Nunn can't collect at least four birdies in an 18-hole match you know he is off his game, while Trainor is apt to pull an eagle out of the hat any time.

While this match was not the championship round, you couldn't get the short end of a ten-to-one bet that it didn't decide the matter. In the minds of almost every golfer in the field the answer is written on the boards and nobody seems able to find an eraser capable of taking it off.

In matching players for this year's championship tournament the two brackets of the first 16 were so divided that the players who might be expected to be contenders for the cup were all in one bracket. Some of them had to go out, and among them were three or four former club champions, Parlett, Gilliland and Garland, and the present champion, Nunn.

In the other bracket there are still three players to get squared around. George Long has to play Jack Wagington, and the winner of this match

Hornsby Seeks Batting Honors

Rogers Hornsby Is In Fair Shape To Grab Off Batting Honors In National League

HERMAN O'DOUL WAGING BATTLE

By HENRY MCLEMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Should you ask Left O'Doul who, in his opinion, will lead the National League in batting this year, he would doubtless reply, "Mr. Frank J. O'Doul."

The same question put to Babe Herman would no doubt elicit the reply, "Mr. Floyd Gaves Herman." All of which shows that optimism is not confined to Mr. Babitt and members of the above gentlemen, and the pride and joy of the Phillies—the other fair-haired child of the Robins—face the facts they would be forced to admit that it seems extremely likely that neither of them shall do the leading.

Who, then? You guessed it. That hardy perennial among hitters Rogers Hornsby, seven times winner of the crown six of which came in a row. One of two peaks at 5.45 and 5.41, you will see just why O'Doul and Herman have cause to worry.

Hornsby Gains.
Two weeks ago Herman was leading the league with .406 and Hornsby was barely in the big five with .368, some 48 points in the rear. One week ago Hornsby's .363 was just 37 percentage points behind Herman's .397. Today the blazing Hornsby's .377 is exactly 21 points away from O'Doul's .396. A gain of 27 in two weeks. But the most significant point is that while O'Doul and Herman are slipping, Hornsby is moving forward and .531, showing no signs of slowing down. As witness yesterday when his teammates bowed to the Braves 10 to 11, Rogers managed to get four out of five including his thirty-fifth homer, two doubles and a single. Despite the loss the Cubs still lead by thirteen full games.

St. Louis and Philadelphia divided a double-header, the Phils rallying for five runs in the eighth to take the opener, 8 to 6, and the Cards coming from behind to snatch the closing affair 4 to 3.

Dazzy Vance scored his third straight victory as the Robins trounced the Pirates, 2 to 1. He fanned four to bring his strike-out total for the year to 106. Dazzy now has twelve triumphs to eleven disasters.

New York at Cincinnati was called off account of rain.

Ruth Hits 42nd.
New York's return to its old time form was the feature in the American. Ruth, Gehrig and Dickey smashing homers as the Yankees battered Detroit, 9 to 3. Babe's blow was his 42nd of 1929 vintage and put him ahead of his 1923 mark of 41. He has had six years in which he has made more than 42.

Chicago got off to an early lead and then stood Washington off to win 4 to 3. The defeat prevented the Senators from going into fifth place.

Boston staged a ninth inning rally of one run to turn back St. Louis in the first game of a double-header 4 to 3. The night-cap after ten scoreless innings, was called. Morris pitched the opener for the Sox and hung up his fourteenth victory of the year. Cleveland and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Butler Pike Road Boosters Assemble

Meeting With Highway Department Representative Held At Mercer

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Butler Pike Good Roads committee held a meeting Friday which proved very satisfactory. Delegates from the different communities that are interested were present. Those from Mercer included Will Moffatt, who is secretary of the committee, the commissioners and several others.

The meeting was called due to the fact that Samuel G. Eckles of the state highway department, was in the district. The committee met with Mr. Eckles in Slippery Rock and then went over the road known as the Butler Pike. Mr. Eckles stated that it was one of the best roads he had ever been over and should be paved. He said it was in such good condition that it could be paved with less expense and work than any other road in this part of the country.

WEDS GREENVILLE MAN.

The marriage of Miss Josephine Kennedy of Mercer to Wayne Crossland of Greenville was solemnized Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Father Dennis O'Mahoney on the Mercer-Greenville road.

The bride was charming in a gown of dark blue, with white accessories to match Mr. and Mrs. Crossland were attended by Joe Junkin and Helen Geary of Mercer.

Following the ceremony the couple left for Canada where they will remain a short time returning Sunday and will make their home in Greenville where the groom is employed.

PREPARE BARRACKS.
The barracks for the state police, who are to be stationed here are being put in order. It will be in the building beside the jail. It is not definite at what date they will be here but it is hoped that they will be present for the Mercer fair.

SORDS POINTS Rhem "Reforms" In Torrid Texas

By JACK SORDS
Sports Cartoonist Writer for Central Press

After being waded out of the big league for failure to knuckle down to the hard and fast rules of the game, and allowing himself to become too much of a "bad boy," Flint Rhem has settled down and is pitching great ball up with Houston of the Texas League. Rhem is a good pitcher when he gets down to it. He proved that in 1926 when he won 20 games and lost only seven for the pennant winning Cardinals. But for the two seasons of the same year and stuck until last after that the big right hander was

Westminster Squad Starts Second Week Of Training Work

Westminster college's 40 football candidates started the second week of their fall training today with prospects good for cooler weather. Last week's drills were necessarily light due to the intense heat, but it is thought that Coach Beede and Lawler will be able to send the men through strenuous workouts this week. But 15 days remain for practice before the season opens with Fordham university at Fordham field, New York City. It can be seen that the United Presbyterian mentors will have to work hard to whip the team into shape for this important contest. Among other things, four vacancies from last year's team must be filled. From the light practice sessions last week it is obvious that the tackle post vacated by Captain Joe Furno will be filled by Donald Cleland, Butler road; William Armour, Sharon; or Homer Dishong, Johnston. Other new faces are apt to be seen on the line despite the fact that the other six line positions have veterans available.

Richard Fuller and Gerry Sweet, both of Erie, are two veteran guards. Others who have been showing up well at guard are Robert Pollock of Pittsburgh, George Oebula of Campbell, O., and Dave Morrison of Elizabethtown. Joseph Dombrowski, a veteran tackle of three seasons, again looks like a first string player. In addition to Cleland, Armour and Dishong, Scott Hadden, Meadville boy, may make a winning bid for a tackle berth. The backfield situation is still a big problem. Adrian Dible of Verona, Harry Michaels of Turtle Creek, John Hall of Youngstown, O., and Paul Campbell of Pittsburgh have all had experience, but this combination does not look like the one Beede will start in his games. As matters now stand, Samuel Merriman of Turtle Creek, Norman Holzapfel of Blairsville, and Raymond O'Neill of Liberty have all been used at quarter. Sharkey Curtails Rigid Training

Championship Series Will Start Tuesday

French Weakens Brooklyn Wins
Italian A. A. To Play Pennsy Team At Centennial Field On Tuesday Evening

Both Teams Are On Edge For Important Series; Second Game To Be Played Thursday

By "BUGS"

Tonorrow night at Centennial field, weather allowing, the first game of the championship series in the Latin country will be played under the Pennsy team. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

The Italians are the winners in the second half of the season. The Pennsy team won the first half. Both teams are on edge for this important series. A hot series of games for the title is anticipated by the followers of both clubs.

There is a controversy on at the present time over the matter of the Pennsy team playing two men who have not been with them much this season. The players in question are Clarke, ss, and Steve Hume and Micky Huff. In the case of Huff, the league officials may see fit to allow him to play, but it is doubtful if Hume is eligible for the series. Hume is under contract all right, but has not played any games with the Pennsy team this year, and to play him in the series would be a violation of the rules of organized ball. Huff played two or three games with the Pennsy team and would be eligible under the rules, having played a percentage of the games.

Controversy Rages.
The matter will be thrashed out before the series starts, but the chances of the Pennsy playing Hume are very slim, unless the Italians agree to allow him to play. The rules of organized ball say that a player to be eligible for a series must have played a certain number of games, and it is understood that Hume has not appeared with the P. R. R. this year.

Another matter that has caused quite some contention is the selection of the umpires for the series. Commissioner Glavin, in charge of the umpires, has assigned Nolle and McCann to work the game Tuesday, and Hudson and Gaffney for the second game, which will be played on Thursday.

The Pennsy team is kicking on Hudson and Gaffney. They want Evans and Parks or Gilliam. Glavin contends that Hudson and Gaffney, having served the league satisfactorily all the year, should not be given the run-around for the series. It is hoped that this matter can be smoothed out before tomorrow night.

Manager Black of the Italians will likely send either Snick or Shields to the mound to try for the first game. Manager McCloskey will use Rodenbaugh or Coates, it is understood. The boys will battle hard for that first game. The series is the best out of five.

Hit by pitcher—By Vance 1 (Clarke); by French 1 (Frederick). Umpires—Hart, Klein and Stark. Time of game—1:40.

Two Games In Mushball Loop

Two games are on tap tonight in the New Castle mushball league. At Colonial field the Tim Mill goes to the starting line with the Haney Furniture team. At Leigh field the first game, which will be played on Thursday.

Hit by pitcher—By Vance 1 (Clarke); by French 1 (Frederick). Umpires—Hart, Klein and Stark. Time of game—1:40.

Johnston Captures Amateur Golf Title

St. Paul Amateur Outplays Dr. Willing To Win Crown Held By Bobby Jones

Recent National Amateur Tourney One Of Greatest In History Of Golf

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service
There was nothing left today of the tournament for the amateur golf championship of America except a lot of divots and a quaint idea which amounted to almost an obsession in the minds of those fortunate enough to have witnessed an event that will go down in history as one of the greatest of them all.

The divots were nothing to worry about. They are always replaced supposedly by ethics, but mostly by the greenskeepers. It has been found that there is more reliable about things like that, but the idea that was so unusual, so unique as to lay even this gentleman's art a full stymie concerned itself with the notion that Harrison Johnston and Dr. O. F. Willing had earned places in the final round hadn't really belonged there and that in effect it was a class double-A event and that Johnston in consequence was a minor league champion.

Johnston is Good.
It was perhaps the most unusual championship of all amateur golf. Bobby Jones and George Von Elm went out the first day of match play. Dr. Willing, a thorough sportsman whose only fault is that he is quite unobtrusively about it, was harassed by a gallery which became hostile because it didn't like his necktie or something.

It produced two remarkable juveniles in Johnny Goodman, alleged to ride his tournaments on freight trains, and William Lawson Little, Jr., who six months ago couldn't hit the way with his ball and it was held in a setting that defied the art of a stage designer, but the most unusual of all of its features was and is the notion that Johnston and Willing were a couple of joke finalists. I will not speak of their previous records, which speak for themselves. They could have been finalists any year without occasioning what the headline writers call a "probe." I merely will exhumate their record of the past week and rest the case. Of the original field of 140, Jones, Von Elm, Chick Evans, Jesse Sweetser, Cyril Tooley, Chandler Egan, Eustace Storey, Francis Ommet, Johnny McHugh, Jack Neville, Don Moe, Frank Dolp, Finlay Romans, Willing and Johnston were the outstanding men.

Evans, Dolp and Neville didn't qualify. Moe and McHugh went out in the early rounds. Jones, greatest of them all, was beaten in the first round by Goodman. What does that make Johnston? It makes him the greatest man in the field, which after all is the object of this tournament. It makes him the greatest man because Goodman, who defeated Jones, was defeated by Little who was defeated by Ommet who was defeated by the ultimate champion. So much for one side of the ledger.

Poor Sight—And Great Athletes

Good eyesight is essential for success in any line of endeavor. And particularly is this true in sports. How then can one explain the success of three star athletes, Greb, Sam Langford and Chick Hayfe who made good despite the handicap of partial blindness?—and two of them, came through in the toughest racket in the world—boxing!

Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh windmill, never made good in his game but he won two titles—the middleweight and the light heavyweight. Back in 1922 Greb's right eye started to dim. Soon he was totally blind in that eye and then the left became affected. But it didn't seem to affect his work in the ring. For years he kept fighting the top flight men of his weight with one eye completely gone and the other going—and winning most of the time. After winning and losing both of his titles and old Father Time was taking his inevitable toll. Harry underwent an operation on his eye and died shortly after. A courageous man, Greb and a great fighter—probably one of the greatest in the history of the prize ring.

Old Sam Langford today a portly ex-warrior feeling his way along life's paths is another ring man who reached the heights in spite of dimming eyesight. Old Sam never did get to be heavyweight champion but only because the champion of his era drew the color line. Experts rate him one of the greatest fighters of all time.

High Boys Battle For Backfield Positions

By "BUGS"
Coach Philip H. Edgenbrough has a bunch of young tigers fighting for the four backfield positions on the New Castle High football team this year.

Each afternoon at Franklin field the boys are put through their paces. Every scrimmage brings out a new line-up. So far "Red" McAndrew has shown enough stuff to be retained as the quarterback and the boy who takes the job away from the red-throated youngster is going to have to play real football. The two half-back positions are being contested for by Robert "Bob" House and Dick Thorne. Art Alexander is being groomed for the fullback spot, along with Merle "Red" McInosh.

Three Missing.
The loss of Sullivan, DiCarbo and Harper is a severe blow to the Red and Black team. The 1929 backfield is not going to be the heaviest the locals have had but it is going to be a speedy one. All the candidates this season are "speed merchants."

There are also a number of candidates for the backfield jobs and the veterans are working hard to keep the rookies off the list. The youngsters are showing the right determination and that is what makes good football players.

Several Hundred Local Boys Eager To Become Sky Climbers

Letters Of Invitation Sent Out By New Association Meet Immediate Response—Local Chapter Of Organization Established In This City

Several letters of invitation were sent out, many New Castle and Law- America, a boys club whose primary purpose is to instill the principles of aeronautics into the minds of young boys.

The national headquarters of the organization is at Rochester, N. Y. The monthly magazine which is sent to all members is published there and the activities of all the clubs in the cities throughout the country, controlled from there. There are four degrees through which members must pass. The first of which is Oiler, the second Mechanic, the third Pilot and the fourth Ace. Certain tests must be passed before a boy is qualified for promotion.

Among the activities sponsored by the organization are the construction of model airplanes, talks by aviators, trips to airports to study flying at close range and to airplane factories to learn the principles on which motors and planes are constructed.

The individual Community clubs are known as "Flight Groups." Badges are given for each degree and when a boy joins the club he is given a button bearing the picture of a well known Junior Aviator who ranks as Chief Sky Climber. As the member passes the tests for the succeeding degrees they are given badges which indicate that they are a Mechanic, Pilot, or Ace as the case may be.

The organization now numbers thousands of boys in more than 40 cities of the country. Headquarters of the New Castle Sky Climbers is at the store of Reynolds, Summers and McCann who have sponsored the establishment of the club in this city.

It is the purpose of the store management to provide a club room for the boys where they may gather for their meetings and where instructions can be given in the building of model airplanes.

A library will be maintained which will comprise the current magazines on aviation and many of the better books relating to this subject. One of the features of the Sky Climbers program is the maintenance of a News Service and Question and Answer Service by national headquarters at Rochester, N. Y. A bulletin board in the local headquarters will be kept posted with the latest news of what is going on in the air. And the Question Box is provided so that the youngsters may drop in all the questions they wish to ask regarding the various phases of aviation. These questions are answered by a competent authority at national headquarters.

It is expected that the formation of the Junior Aviation club in New Castle will do much to awaken interest in this city in the fast growing aviation industry.

LOCAL BOY HELD AT CLEVELAND, O.

Local police authorities received a telegram from the Cleveland, O., police department this morning stating that they had in custody there a boy named Joseph Orabinec aged 15 of 15 Walter street, this city and stating that his parents could have him if they would pay the expense of getting him home. The authorities notified the parents here and it is probable that they will send for him.

HATSCHER FINDS HIS OWN AUTOMOBILE

John Hatschner of 530 Harbor street, reported to the police Sunday evening that his automobile had been stolen from an east side street. He reported some time later he had entered the machine in the same section of the city.
